DETROIT MAYOR DUBS THOMPSON 'IRRESPONSIBLE'

"Sorry for Chicago," He Writes.

Mayor James Couzens of Detroit sent three letters to Chicago yesterday telling exactly what he thinks of Mayor William Hale Thompson.

The first was directed to Mayor Thompson personally. In it Mr. Couzens called Mr. Thompson "irresponsible" and said that he was "sorry for Chicago, for it is making a most unenviable record throughout the country because of the kind of leadership—lack of leadership—given it by Mr. Thompson."

The second letter was directed to Joseph H. Noel, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. In part it said:

"I think Chicago should be ashamed of this kind of mayor."

Steps at Traction Plans.

To A. W. Stannmeyer, president of the Cook County Real Estate board, Mayor Couzens wrote:

"I do not believe anything will be gained with your traction problem with that sort of leadership, and, therefore, I feel it would be a waste of energy to attempt any help."

The cause of the correspondence was an invitation extended to Mayor Couzens by the Association of Commerce and the Cook County Real Estate board to speak in Chicago on traction problems. Two representatives of the traction companies went to Detroit to see the invitation and presented a letter of introduction from Mayor Thompson.

"The very cordial invitation extended by these gentlemen was received and taken under consideration," the letter from Mayor Couzens to the Chicago American of Oct. 25, 1921, was drawn to my attention, when I concluded that under no circumstances could I visit Chicago at your invitation while a man so irresponsible was in the mayor's chair.

Objects to Mayor's Language.

"I have taken pains to get the accuracy of the statement which was to the effect that you would not adopt the plan suggested by Secretary of Commerce Hoover. With that, of course, I can find no fault, but I do find fault when you go on to challenge the plan on the theory that it is 'a capitalist move, the object of a blacklist, the refusal of charity to American union labor, a drive against union labor, and a conspiracy to lower wages.'"

"It was my privilege to be called to President Harding's unemployment conference and to be there during the entire time of its deliberations, and not only was there no such object in view as you have outlined but the best possible spirit prevailed for the actual relief of the unemployed, whether union or non-union."

"I'm Sorry for Chicago."

"It was not in any respect a capitalistic move, which was evidenced by the attendance of Mr. Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Clegg for the railroad men, and other labor leaders who participated in the deliberations and approval of the findings."

"Your kind of public attack upon the energies and efforts of well meaning citizens is deplorable, and it cannot be said that it is any sincerity whatever."

"I am sorry for Chicago, for it is making a most unenviable record throughout the country because of the kind of leadership—or lack of leadership—that you are giving."

Mayor Couzens is considered one of the foremost advocates of municipal ownership among city executives.

He was elected mayor of Detroit three years ago, and his most notable accomplishment has been his fight for municipal ownership of Detroit street cars. At present 100 miles of municipal lines are in operation and large extensions are contemplated.

WOULD SPEED WATERWAY

This city council yesterday passed a resolution requesting Gov. Small to order full speed ahead on the deep waterway between Lockport and Utica, passing the county board to cooperate with Mayor Thompson's unemployment commission by putting men to work wherever possible and requesting the council finance committee to appropriate from $50,000 to $100,000 for the work.

At present 100 miles of municipal lines are in operation and large extensions are contemplated.

"Billy" Camp, Spender King, Weds Wife 4

"Billy" Camp yesterday took unto himself wife No. 4. News was received last night of his marriage in Los Angeles, Cal., to Mabel Patricia Walker, known to the movies as Mrs. "Johnnie" Walker, who, as the alleged object of Billy's attentions, gave wife No. 3 grounds for divorce.

Tuesday afternoon Judge signed a decree granting Mrs. Katherine Thorne Camp, widow of William C. Thorne, a divorce from William C. Camp, called "Chicago's million dollar spender." The ink had hardly dried on the judge's signature before Billy married Mrs. Walker.

Third Marriage in 1919.

The third matrimonial venture of Billy occurred in June, 1919, a few months after his second divorce. He was then a partner of Gordon Thorne, son of the former vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., in the banking business under the firm name of Camp, Thorne & Co.

A legacy of $1,000,000 and the simultaneous marriage of Billy to Miss Edith Schuyler of Chicago was his debut to prominence over twenty years ago. He was the son of J. N. Camp, a leading Chicago business man and head of the piano house of Estey & Camp.

In his earlier years, after receiving his inheritance, $400 a day was Billy's usual spending money, according to his first wife's divorce bill, and liquor his principal purchase. Parties costing thousands were frequent in Billy's life, she alleged. Again simultaneously Billy was broke and divorced.

He accumulated more money and another wife, the former by entering the cigar business, the latter by winning Elita Proctor Oils, a stage beauty. He apparently kept the money, but not the wife.

Raid on Bungalow.

Two years of wedded bliss on his third marital embarkation and Billy went west. Early last month a private detective, sent to California by Mrs. Camp, discovered his client's husband in a bungalow with Mrs. Walker at 605 Crescent drive, Beverly Hills. A flash-light photograph was taken and suit for divorce was filed in Chicago.

Other women were named and desertion was charged. Alimony was waived. Mrs. Camp decided to Billy the bungalow in Beverly Hills and was given permission to drop the name of Camp. Mrs. Camp's suit was not contested.

SHOT DEAD IN QUARREL OVER GREEK CHURCH

In a quarrel last evening over the merits of their opposing factions in the Greek Orthodox church William Palaios, 8115 Normal avenue, was shot dead by Andre Laskeris, 525 West 79th street.

The shooting took place in a pool-room at 518 West 79th street where the two men had exchanged blows. Palaios was wounded over the heart and he died soon after reaching the Auburn Park hospital.

Laskeris escaped in the excitement. Several witnesses were held by the police.

Vandals in Flat Steal $5,000, Gems and Clothing

Ike Lewinson, 5544 Prairie avenue, a retired whisky dealer, returned with his wife from the theater last night and found that the jewelry and clothing valued at $5,000 had been stolen from his apartment.

The apartment was in complete disorder. Clothing was torn and furniture broken and rugs were piled up on the floor.

SOME MORE ANGLES TO THE LIMITATION OF SCRAPPING SHIPS

Why not a three mile limitation of BOTTLE ships?

Why not convert our scrapped ships to peaceful commercial uses?

Why not establish a limitation of cruising radius for all battleships? Then they could never go far enough to commit aggressions in other countries.

WORLD LEAGUE BARS SECRECY ON BALKAN ROW

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, Nov. 16.—H. A. L. Fisher, British member of the league of nations council, today demanded that "owing to the great importance of the decisions to be taken" the council discuss the Albanian question in public at its meeting tomorrow.

Today's session lasted only five minutes. M. Bourgeois of France being elected president and Mr. Fisher's motion being accepted.

The Jugo-Slavs denied their troops are in Albania, but admitted the presence of irregular forces, over which, they said, they had no control. The present situation parallels the Vilna problem, which the league tried unsuccessfully to clear up a year ago, but this time the council declares it is going to push the thing through to a successful conclusion.

The council of ambassadors met to consider a plan to have the states formerly made up of Austro-Hungary pay the bills of ex-emperor Karl while in exile. This will cost about $30,000 a year, it was said.

Hint for Medill School of Journalism for a P-I Yarn

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Camouflage, which assumed marvelous forms during the great war, never did here more weird character than it achieved recently when a newspaper man, disguised as an old tree trunk, changed one of his "branches" into a 45 caliber automatic pistol and arrested Matthias Hanna, would-be extortionist. Hanna was convicted today by a jury, which needed only thirty minutes to do it, of attempting to blackmail Dee Robinson, owner of a chain of motion picture theaters. In a can in which gary was ordered to place $2,000 and throw into an empty lot from his automobile Robinson put a note with this laconic suggestion: "Go to hell!"

Meanwhile Ben H. Serkovich, alert newspaper man, assumed the role of the old tree and when Hanna grabbed up the can, took him into custody, thus upholding the majesty of the law and obtaining a snappy yarn for his paper.

ALL HANDS OFF CHINA WOULD BE PEACE BOON

"Let Everybody Get Out," Wells Says.

ARTICLE VIII.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The Chinese propaganda in America and Western Europe seems on the whole to be conducted more efficiently than the Japanese. And the Chinese student, it seems to me, gets into closer touch with the educated American and European because he is a democratic and has an aristocratic habit of mind. He has an intensely western sense of public opinion.

The masses of China may be destitute, ignorant, and disordered, but in their mental habits they are modern and not medieval, in the sense that the Japanese are medieval and not modern. The Chinese seem to "get on" with their western social equivalents better than any of the Asiatic people.

And increasing multitudes of Chinese are learning English today; it is the second language in China.

Now if Japan is the figure in the limelight at Washington today, China is the giant in the background, or, if you will, China is the background and scene of the present Pacific drama.

Figures Worth Noting.

We have had so much in the papers lately about these two countries, we have been treated to such a feast of particulars about them that most of us have long since forgotten thoroughly the broad facts of the case and it will be refreshing to recall them here and now.

Let us remind ourselves that China is a country with a population amounting at the lowest estimate to between two and three times the population of the United States, or of France and England put together. This population has the longest unbroken tradition of peaceful industry in the world. It is essentially civilized; it respects learning and civility profoundly. A common literature and ancient traditions keep its people one.

In the past, China has been divided again and again—always to reunite. But it has become "old fashioned," dangerously old fashioned, perhaps by reason of its very stability; it has lagged behind most of the world in the development of its transport and economic possibilities.

Has Greatest Undeveloped Wealth. In mineral deposits and other natural resources and in the industrial capability of its sturdy and intelligent population it has more undeveloped wealth than any other single people in the world. It is only in the last century or so that China has lagged behind. Only a few centuries ago China was as civilized as Europe and politically more stable. In a century or so she may be again the most civilized and intelligent power in the world, flourishing in fellowship and perfect understanding with the great states of America and Europe.

She may be if she is not torn to pieces and kept in a state of feeble-mindedness and disorder by the hostile action of external powers.

But at present China is in a state of political impotence. Her Manchurian imperialism has proved itself to be hopelessly inefficient and China is now struggling to reconstruct upon modern republican lines, obviously suggested by the American example.

Prussianting and Americanizing. A few decades ago Japan astonished the world by Europeanizing herself upon Prussian lines. China now, under far less favorable conditions and with a vast country and a less disciplined people, is struggling to Americanize herself. But it is no easy task to make over a people at one stride from a medieval autocracy to a modern democracy. It is far easier to Prussiantize than to Americanize, for in the one case you have only to train an official class and in the other you must educate a whole people.

China is torn by dissensions; the south jars with the north; she has two or more governments, each claiming to be the Chinese government, and whole provinces have fallen under the sway of military adventurers. It is a distressing spectacle, but it was probably an inevitable phase in the development of New China. Before we fall a prey to anti-Chinese propaganda it is well to recall how long it has always taken to build up the necessary understandings and habits of association upon which a new political system rests.

France, for example, was a land of revolutions and political instability for nearly a century after the great revolution. America wrangled feebly and dangerously for several years after the war of independence before she settled down to a stable government.

"Big 3" Ready to Sign Limit on Arms Soon

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—An agreement on the reduction and limitation of naval armament without awaiting the outcome of discussion of Pacific and far eastern questions was foreshadowed by developments today.

The American delegation has communicated to the foreign plenipotentiaries the willingness of the United States to sign an international armament restriction compact as soon as it is framed, without regard to the status of deliberations on the other questions before the conference.

The British delegation responded that it is ready to take the same course.

This development was confirmed tonight when one of the spokesmen of the British delegation stated in response to press correspondents:

"It is our view that questions should be disposed of when reported to the conference by a committee without regard to other questions upon which reports are not ready. Of course, this applies to the question of reduction of armament on which early conclusions may be expected."

The Japanese delegation welcomed the suggestion of the American delegation, Admiral Baron Kato stating that Japan is ready to sign an agreement on the limitation of naval armament based on the Hughes proposals without making acceptance contingent upon the adjustment of differences on the Pacific and far east problems.

Matter of a Few Weeks. The utmost confidence prevails that within two or three weeks at most an agreement will be reached reconciling the differences as to details of the naval holiday proposals. There will be much discussion of the alternative proposals made by Great Britain and Japan, but in the end a compromise representing concessions by all parties.

So excellent is the atmosphere which prevails that suggestions are now being heard that the conference will not only arrive at an amicable settlement of far eastern affairs but that a way will be found by Great Britain and Japan to abandon their alliance of nineteen years. This would be extremely gratifying to this government.

The British government would give its cordial blessing to any such outcome of the conference, a member of the British delegation said tonight.

LATEST MOVES AT CONFERENCE

CHINA.

China asks recognition as an independent nation, respect for territorial rights, restitution of seized provinces and regions, abandonment of special foreign privileges, withdrawal of foreign troops, permission to govern her own internal affairs, and the open door.

China's plea was discussed with United States officials before being submitted to conference committee, and follows closely Secretary Hughes' advice. American suggestion followed in all except one point—the creation of a permanent court of arbitration in the east.

Japan is understood to acquiesce "in principle" with China's plea, emphasizing, however, that withdrawal of interest in China include all foreign powers.

Great Britain is practically in accord with the attitude expressed by China. France awaits attitude of other nations.

NAVAL REDUCTIONS. "Big Three" likely to reach agreement on reduction and limitation of naval armament prior to and regardless of discussions of far eastern problems.

American committee of experts and senate show some opposition to Balfour amendments to Hughes naval program. British "thought" suggests limiting of submarines to 250 tons.

LAND ARMAMENT. M. Briand said that France has no concrete proposals to offer for reduction of armament, but that he will in a speech before the conference, probably on Friday, outline the European situation as it affects France.

DEBTS. British delegation says no request for inter-cancellation of allied debts will be made.

DISCARDED SHIPS. Naval experts say conversion of warships to commercial use is impossible, but that scrapping does not mean sinking.

CHINA PLEADS FOR EQUALITY AMONG NATIONS

Asks Right to Rule Her Own Affairs.

BY HENRY WALES. Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—China today asked recognition as an independent nation.

The great Pacific "celestial empire" of more than 400,000,000 souls, possessors of the world's oldest civilization and culture, pleaded with the younger powers for her sovereign rights.

Dr. Alfred Soe, Chinese minister to the United States and chief of the Chinese delegation, read before the secret committee on far eastern affairs of the disarmament-Pacific conference an expose of the demands of the Asiatic republic. Ten points are enumerated by the Chinese who move the adoption of the principles embodied therein before subcommittees proceed to the work of working out applications of these principles, in secret, to the various problems of the orient.

Asks Right to Self Rule. Respect for her territorial integrity, restitution of seized provinces and regions, abandonment of special rights, monopolies, privileges and extraterritorial rights, and withdrawal of foreign troops from her soil and permission to direct her own domestic affairs and govern her own internal and foreign policies, is what China asks.

The Chinese delegation does not ask that all powers enjoying monopolies and privileges usurping her sovereign rights and occupying her territory abandon their claims and evacuate their holdings immediately.

She asks instead merely that her right to exist as a free and independent nation be admitted by all states, including those which have preyed on her for decades, and that as time goes on and conditions warrant the economic, industrial, commercial, and political fetters on her be loosened.

"Open Door Swings One Way." For centuries before the "door" was pried "open" for younger powers to enter and loot and seize in China she governed herself inside her frontiers and maintained order. But the "open door" proved to be a one way passage, with everything foreign going in and nothing Chinese coming out, except such exports as the guardians of the portal controlled and levied on.

China believes that eventually she can prove her right to the same self-government as other nations, and her ten points are a request that principles of independence and sovereignty be recognized as inherently hers, for application at various times in the future when they shall be worked out.

The Peking government's plea for reasonable recognition with other states is a reflection of the attitude of the American peace commission during the Paris conference in 1919, when the American delegates were unanimous in agreeing that China should be placed on a level footing with other powers and that the sole solution of the far east problem lay in respect of Chinese sovereignty and abandonment of the strangle holds held on everything she owned by foreign nations.

Retrospect and Prospect. At the home of the Chinese delegation in Massachusetts avenue, which backs directly on the home of Woodrow Wilson in 18 street, so that the Chinese delegates can look out of their windows and see the former President sunning himself in his wheel chair in his garden, Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese minister in London, and Dr. Wong, another plenipotentiary, this evening elucidated several points involved in the ten principles submitted.

Dr. Koo and Dr. Wong declined to "interpret" the Chinese demands in detail, giving concrete examples under every heading, on the ground that such details have not yet been presented to the committee and that their conferees of the conference should be the first to be apprised of specific cases involved in the various principles involved.

The Chinese delegates did, however, indicate the direction of the trend of their demands and intimated what some of the problems might be that would be considered by the subcommittee in drafting a plan for application of the principles, once these principles are adopted.

The first part of the opening demand made by China sums up all following:

ing principles laid down, demanding as it does that the "powers engage to respect and observe the territorial integrity and political and administrative independence of the Chinese republic."

A minor abandonment of her sovereignty is offered in the second part of this initial demand when, as a sop to the great powers' demands for their protection in the far east, she offers not to lease any portion of her territory to any power.

Dr. Wong asserted that the delegation spoke in behalf of all of China, asking that the territorial integrity of south as well as of north China be respected, and that Manchuria, Inner and Outer Mongolia, Turkestan, and Tibet were included in "the Chinese republic."

The Chinese declare themselves in full accord with the "open door" policy and promise to maintain it. With the Chinese government itself collecting customs, revenues, and fixing duties, controlling its transportation, manufacturing, and handling of raw products, it expects it could derive some benefits from unhampered foreign trade instead of being molested by the foreign powers which now control it absolutely.

Free Hand in Diplomacy.

Free hand in foreign policy and diplomatic relations is asked by China in article 3, which requests that no future treaties or agreements affecting her be made by other powers without her participation.

Registration of all treaties as insisted on by the league of nations is ignored in China's fourth point, which demands that all secret agreements and accords existing between various governments be made public immediately and that any which are not announced now be considered void.

Adoption of "a bill of demerit" to "smoke out" any private understanding between Britain and Japan regarding Chinese interests in the far east and would settle definitely the oft-doubted but persistent rumor of a secret accord existing between the two governments.

China's object is to get all the cards face up on the table and to learn exactly where she stands and what claims—public or secret—are held against her by Japanese and the western powers.

Hopes Looting Will Be Stopped.

The Chinese believe that many concessions and extraterritorial rights which foreign states have been exacting in China will be scrapped, and that certain nations will forego certain privileges they have held rather than set them down in black and white as demands against the Chinese republic.

Article 5 provides that all monopolies, privileges, and special interests which have been limiting her political jurisdiction and hampering her administrative freedom shall be removed "as soon as circumstances permit."

This principle applies to the British control over customs and duties to the maximum of 5 per cent tariff on imports imposed by Britain in the treaty of 1842 and extended to France and other powers later. It aims at the French salt monopoly under which France levies a tax on every ounce consumed in China. It is directed at certain railway concessions owned and operated by foreign interests without regard to China's economic needs.

Dynamic is found in article 7, whose principal target is Shanghai, where reasonable and definite terms of duration are to be attached to China's present commitments which are without time limits.

In the Paris peace conference Shanghai was left with the Japanese on a "gentlemen's agreement"—unwritten and unsigned—that they would evacuate it within a reasonable period.

The last three articles in China's ten points further betray her lack of confidence in the league of nations. Indeed, the eighth article is a violation of the covenant which provides that all states members shall act in common against an aggressive nation. It provides that China's neutrality shall be respected in future wars.

HELD ON "FIXING" CHARGE.

John J. Kelly of 242 South Michigan avenue, said to have been a city employee, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge that he had defrauded Jennie Santucci, 10 years old, 782 1/2 place, of $55 by pretending that he was a bailiff of Municipal Court Judge Jacobs and would "fix" the case of her father, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

CHINA PROGRAM DISCUSSED WITH U. S. IN ADVANCE

Hughes' Advice Followed Except in One Clause.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—China's statement of principles, as outlined today before the committee on Pacific and far eastern problems, by the Chinese minister, Dr. See, follows:

"In view of the fact that China must necessarily play an important part in the deliberations of this conference with reference to the political situation in the far east, the Chinese delegation has thought it proper that they should take the first possible opportunity to state certain general principles which in their opinion should guide the conference in the determination of the principles which it is to make."

"Certain of the specific applications of the principles which it is expected that the conference will make, it is our intention later to bring forward, but at the present time it is deemed sufficient simply to propose the principles which I shall presently read."

"In formulating these principles, the purpose has been kept steadily in view of obtaining results in accordance with which existing and possible future political and economic problems in the far east and the Pacific may be most justly settled, and with due regard to the rights and legitimate interests of all the powers concerned."

"Wants Her Place in the Sun." "Thus it has been sought to harmonize the particular interests of China with these general interests of all the world. China is anxious to play her part, not only in maintaining peace, but in promoting the material advancement and the cultural development of all the nations. She wishes to make her vast natural resources available to all peoples who need them, and in return to receive the benefits of free and equal intercourse with them."

"In order that she may do this it is necessary that she should have every possible opportunity to develop her political institutions in accordance with the genius and needs of her own people. China is now contending with certain difficult problems which necessarily arise, when any country makes a radical change in her form of government."

"These problems she will be able to solve if given the opportunity to do so. This means not only that she should be freed from the danger or threat of foreign aggression, but that, so far as circumstances will possibly permit, she be relieved from limitations which now deprive her of autonomous administrative action and prevent her from securing adequate public revenue."

"Makes Specific Suggestions." "In conformity with the agenda of the conference, the Chinese government proposes for the consideration of and adoption by the conference the following general principles to be applied:

"It was intimated at headquarters also that while Japan would accept the Chinese program 'in principle' there might be considerable discussion over applications of these principles to specific problems. If, for instance, it was explained, the conference should seek to apply the principle against Japan and not against England, there would be objection. Or if Japan was asked to give up something and France and America allowed to keep what they had it would be a very serious trouble."

The Japanese would like as many public discussions as possible, it is said, over the points at issue in order that Japan may make her case clear before the world. Japan feels she is on trial and wants to get public opinion back of her in her position of special interests in Manchuria. To this end her agents have been working in England and America and are working hard to-day.

The application of the first two or three points in the Chinese formula would drive Japan out of Manchuria. The Chinese have made the specific point that the Chinese republic includes the outer territories embraced in the old Manchuria dynasty. And that sets the stage for the conflict.

BRITISH FAVOR NEW PROPOSALS MADE BY CHINA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—Two outstanding features of the official British viewpoint on China's proposals on the far eastern question were emphasized tonight by the highest authorities. Great Britain reiterates that she is in full agreement with the open door policy.

She regards the "spheres of influence" as antiquated and unsuitable to modern conditions. While the British viewpoint is that the Anglo-Japanese alliance is not directly involved in any of the Chinese propositions submitted today, the British would welcome some kind of an agreement between the great powers or even one limited to America, Japan, and Great Britain to replace it. This is founded on the feeling that there is need for some cooperative action to regulate conditions in the far east in the interest of peace and prosperity of the people.

OPPOSE BAI AMENDMENT NAVY RED

U. S. Advisory Senators Give

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—With the technical limitation of naval armaments by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the American opposition to the proposed amendments to the naval treaty is growing here.

Both in the senate and in the house there are objections to the amendments that would be modified to permit of replacements from the navy and also that the treaty should be further amended to permit of the use of submarines. When the executive day there was general British viewpoint, as a result.

Foster Made Again

It brought out opposition as follows:

To permit building of a ship a year in order to keep the fleet up to date and tend to destroy it.

To limit the size of submarines.

To deny the right of patrol the long sea of country must defend.

The American advice to the British is that the offensive weapon must be willing that the agreement should ban from the submarine tonnage of 600 tons or less, but not which would make impossible construction of submarines for long coastal voyages.

Favor $8,000 "Dive" to the belief also that the navy to reduce the tonnage to 4,000 or 45,000 by the British. An unwilling to cut the propeller tonnage of 800 tons or below that for purely defensive stand.

Mr. Balfour's proposition on them reported aroused interest also among those who have their ears to the conference.

"I do not believe," Nebraska said, "that either here or in England the proposal that the modified. It would deal real purpose of Mr. H."

The only real way to increase naval power is by increasing the tonnage of the navy, and some device way to mark by which it may be done.

Nothing was announced, which will be tomorrow. Until it has been reported to the committee, there will be no consideration of the agenda.

OPPOSE BALFOUR AMENDMENTS TO NAVY REDUCTION

U. S. Advisory Board and Senators Give Views.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—With the technical committee of the American disarmament conference, the American delegation has today announced its opposition to Mr. Balfour's suggested amendments continuing to grow here.

Both in the senate and in the advisory committee to the American delegation there are objections to Mr. Balfour's suggestion that the ten year holiday be modified to permit construction of replacements from time to time and also that the tonnage of submarines be further reduced and the size of a submarine limited.

When the executive committee of the American advisory group met today there was general discussion of the British viewpoint, as advanced by Mr. Balfour.

Plans Made Against Changes.
It was brought out opposition summarized as follows:
To permit building of replacements or construction by the naval powers of a ship a year in order to keep shipyards going would practically nullify the spirit of the ten year naval holiday and tend to destroy its effect.

To limit the size of submarines might prove a serious menace to the United States in denying them undersea craft of sufficient size and radius proper to patrol the long sea coasts which this country must defend.

The American advisers agreed with Mr. Balfour that the submarine as an offensive weapon must go. They are willing that the agreement of the power should be based on naval armaments all submarines destined to strike out across the seas, but not to fix a barrier which would make impossible the construction of undersea boats capable of long coastal voyages.

Favor 30,000 "Diver" Tonnage.
The American advisers were inclined to the belief also that it would not be wise to reduce the total submarine tonnage to 40,000 or 45,000, as suggested by the British. America might be willing to cut the proposed 50,000 submarine tonnage to 30,000, but should not go below that for safety from a purely defensive standpoint, it was argued.

Mr. Balfour's proposals and the reaction on them reported from England aroused interest also among senators who have their ears to the ground of the conference.

"I do not believe," Senator Norris of Kansas said, "that public opinion either here or in England will tolerate the proposal that the naval holiday be modified. It would destroy one of the real purposes of Mr. Hughes' program.

"The only real way to terminate the submarine rivalry between the two big naval powers is to 'scrap' naval armament, and not by seeking some device to keep alive the spark by which it may revive at any time."

Nothing was announced today by the committee, which will meet again tomorrow. Until it has something tangible to report to the conference there will probably be no further conference consideration of the armament phase of the agenda.

Capt. Field's Wife Attends Birth Control Meeting

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. of Chicago and New York, was among those present today at a conference to arrange a birth control meeting for Friday night. It was explained in her behalf, however, that she is merely looking into its merits.

Today's conference adopted a resolution protesting against police action in stopping last Sunday night's meeting at Town Hall, when Mrs. Margaret Sanger and Miss Mary Winsor were arrested.

It had been planned to make another attempt to meet Friday night in Bryant hall, but publicity has brought a flood of applications for tickets and the Park theater, in Columbus Circle, has been obtained.

TICKET SELLERS ARE HELD.
Lester Klefau, 20 years old, of 6017 Kenwood street, and Raymond Bakula, 21 years old, of 7548 Thacker avenue, were held in the grand jury yesterday by Judge Gemmill for selling tickets to the Hyde Park-Bryn Mawr high school football game.

REILLY STUDIES BRITAIN'S PLEA FOR BIG FLEET

Balfour Sees Danger in Small Navy.

BY GEN. HENRY REILLY.

(Editor Army and Navy Journal.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—An analysis from a purely military point of view of Mr. Balfour's acceptance of the principle of the limitation of naval armament shows that while that principle is accepted the details must rest on the fact that the security of the British empire depends upon naval supremacy.

Mr. Balfour clearly brought out the point that while the sentiment back of Mr. Hughes' proposal is most commendable and corresponds with the wishes of the majority of the people of the world, the cold, hard facts of the necessity to insure the security of the British empire must govern.

He showed the strategic weakness of the British empire due to its widely scattered possessions separated by immense ocean distances. He demonstrated that this strategic weakness can only be overcome by the possession of sufficient naval power to prevent any possible enemy separating the different parts of the empire and thus beating it in detail.

As every nation is a potential enemy of every other nation, no matter how friendly their relationship may be at any time, the position which Mr. Balfour points out as essential to the security of the British empire can only be obtained by having a greater naval force than that of any other country; in other words, naval supremacy.

His desire to drive home this point was shown by the contrast which he made between the position of the British empire in this respect and the United States of America. He showed that the primary vital communications of the British empire are upon the seas, while those of the United States are upon the land.

While this is perfectly true with respect to the intercommunications of the different parts of the British empire and the different parts of the United States, it is not so when it comes to the question of our communications with foreign countries. If we are to keep these routes open in time of war, control of the sea is as

Radi-Opera

Cost of Opera was smashed last night, hundreds of miles were annihilated, and the thrilling music of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" was served by science, free of cost.

Radio did the trick—radio-telephony—and wireless fans from Watertown, N. Y., to Kansas City, Mo., and from Minneapolis to Covington, Ky., "tuned in."

In the home of Attorney Robert Davis, 3915 Pine Grove avenue, a most enthusiastic audience of relatives and neighbors "heard it all, as clear as a bell" due to the efforts of the two young sons, Callis, 16, and Robley, 13, who constructed the radio receiver.

Every night during the opera season the amplifier over the Auditorium stage will deliver the throbs from below the roof of the Commonwealth Edison company's building, where they will be transmitted into radio impulses.

And there is an added feature for the "stay-at-home" opera lovers. In the intermissions an announcer from the Auditorium will tell briefly the story of the opera, act by act.

important to us as it is to Great Britain. Our communications with the continent of Europe are much longer and consequently much more difficult to protect than is the case with Great Britain. This important part of the question was not touched upon.

FILIPINOS SEE PARLEY AS ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE

Hope Jap Will Pledge Noninterference.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)

MANILA, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, telegraphed from his sick bed to THE TRIBUNE correspondent today relative to the Washington conference, as follows:

"The Filipino people are intensely interested in the disarmament conference because upon the outcome of the deliberations and agreements reported may depend in a great measure the future of the Philippines. The conference will discuss the Pacific problems that are causing or may cause misunderstandings between the great powers with a view to arriving at solutions satisfactory to all concerned.

Up to Conference.

"The Philippine question may or may not be taken up in the conference, but certainly the continued possession of the islands by the United States will be in the minds of those sitting in the conference, especially the American and Japanese delegates. This conference furnishes, therefore, an excellent opportunity to find out Japan's real attitude on the Philippine question and to secure her cooperation in the recognition of the Philippines.

"I believe sincerely that Japan gladly would join in a reasonable understanding and would bind herself to an agreement assuring a policy of non-interference with Philippine independence, if America should see fit to bring up such questions.

Wants Independence Now.

"Philippine independence at this time would be the best evidence to the world that America does not want the domination of the Pacific, would place her in an advantageous position of leadership in the conference and would bring about the realization of her ideals on disarmament or the limitation and control of armaments. Moreover, the independence of the Philippines would mean for the United States an automatic reduction in naval and army expenditures.

"By freeing the Philippines America would not only redeem its pledge but she would be placed in a favorable position to demand that other nations observe the same principles and adopt the same attitude, thus facilitating the realization of the ideals which led to the disarmament conference. In view of our vital concern in the outcome of the conference the Filipino people should be given participation therein."

BRIAND TO TELL CONFERENCE OF SOVIET MENACE

France Ready to Assist China, Premier Says.

BY HENRY WALES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—France has no concrete proposals—like Mr. Hughes' 5-5-3 plan—for reduction of military armament, nor has she any working agreement with the United States government for a scheme to reduce the size of armies.

This was the statement made by Aristide Briand today following the far eastern committee session of the disarmament-Pacific conference.

Has No Actual Plan.
"I have no actual plan for land disarmament," Mr. Briand said, "but I will state to the conference the facts regarding the military situation in Europe and as it affects France. My exposure to the conference will show the number of men under arms in the various European countries, including Russia, and will expose the potential menace of the powerful Red forces."

M. Briand also intimated that in his speech, which will probably take place on Friday in a plenary session of the conference, he will outline the present situation with regard to Germany, which despite the military terms of the Versailles treaty is a nation of 65,000,000, while France numbers only 35,000,000.

Awaits Others on China.
Regarding China's ten points, as stated in this afternoon's committee meeting, M. Briand said France would not express her opinion at this time. "The French delegation will await responses from the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, the three powers chiefly interested in the far east problem, before she voices her opinion," he declared.

France's reduction of military armaments was emphasized by the premier, who stated that the French army next year, when its effectives will number about 500,000, will represent a greater limitation in armament, relatively, than the reduction of the three naval powers' fleets at the expiration of ten years, after the 5-5-3 program becomes effective.

CROWE'S DEMAND FOR COPS BRINGS PRAISE OF CHIEF

"Best City Ever Had," Mayor Declares.

State's Attorney Crowe's break with the city administration became more apparent than ever last night when, in the face of the prosecutor's demand on the city council for police to "protect the city from open vice," Mayor Thompson reiterated his confidence in Chief Fitzmorris.

"In Fitzmorris Chicago has the best chief in its history," the mayor said. "Look up the crime records of Chicago and other cities. With unemployment everywhere crime is on the increase in every large American city except Chicago."

Ettelson as Peace Envoy.

The rôle of peacemaker in the quarrel has been delegated to Corporation Counsel Ettelson by the mayor. He has directed Mr. Ettelson to render an opinion on the legal aspects of the case—the right of the city to assign policemen to the state's attorney's office, the right of the state's attorney to obey the chief's orders. Four assistants are working on the opinion, it was said yesterday.

Crowe's Request Granted.

Herbert White, secretary of the council finance committee, acting on the orders of Chairman John R. R. White, yesterday notified Mr. Crowe that his request for an audience when the proposed ordinance requiring the assignment of forty policemen to the state's attorney's office is taken up, has been granted. The meeting probably will be held next Friday.

Deputy sheriffs from the state's attorney's office yesterday afternoon and last night instituted a new series of raids on south side gambling houses and disorderly places. More than a score were visited.

JAPAN WILL SEEK BIGGER STRENGTH IN NAVAL RATIO

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

TOKIO, Nov. 16.—An apparently inspired statement in the Tokyo press says the Japanese counter proposals to the American disarmament plan will ask for an amended ratio permitting the Japanese fleet strength to equal 70 or 80 per cent of the American and British navies. The Japanese proposals will ask for an increase in the number of capital ships to include Kaga and Tosa, which are now ready for launching, and the Mutsu. The old Seto is to be scrapped.

The statement says that Japan desires auxiliary ships in a greater ratio than the capital ships, as it requires them for the defense of its trade routes.

The Asahi says Admiral Kato is fully empowered to accept, reject, or amend the American proposals.

MOPLAH REBELS OCCUPY TOWN; FIGHT TO DEATH

Ask and Give No Quarter in War on British.

BY THOMAS RYAN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

CALCUTTA, Nov. 16.—I spent two days in the Moplah country, fourteen miles to the east of this city, where I have had a good opportunity to observe conditions.

While farther north M. K. Ghandi preaches nonviolence, the Moplahs, espousing the cause of the caliph-like Ghandi, are waging a bitter jungle war, asking and giving no quarter. Unless they abandon their present obstinacy, it is likely that all the Moplah warriors will be exterminated. The whole race numbers 1,000,000. These warriors court death in the hopes of entering paradise through defense of Islam.

Charged Verses Useless.

Most of these fighters are superstitious, some of them receiving from their chiefs charms verses from the Koran which, wrapped around their arms, are supposed to render them invulnerable. However, some have been complaining, charging that the verses seem to have little effect on bullets from the British rifles.

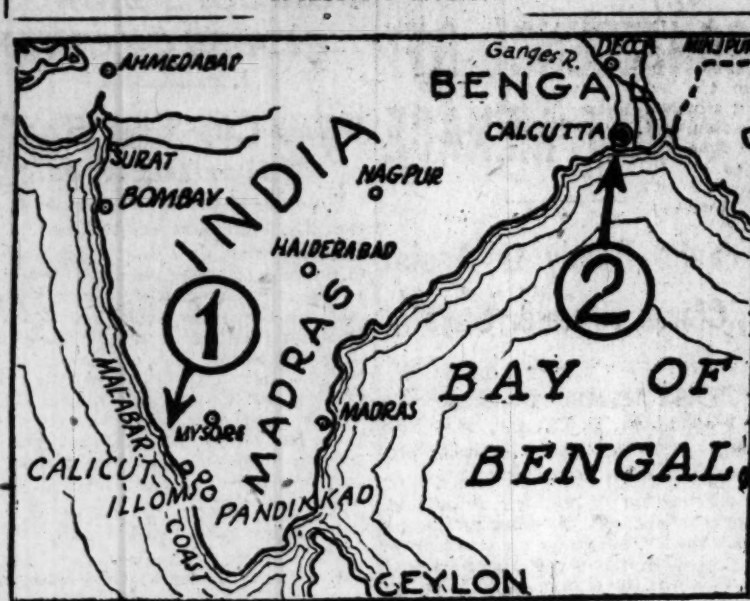

Perhaps half the rebels in this district have tiger hunting, muzzle loading rifles. Many of these guns are seized from Hindus. This type of rifle shoots a large slug which whines like a shell. The rest are armed with meat choppers, which, however, are ugly weapons in fighting at close quarters. A great many carry wooden shields to protect themselves from bullets, but these are of little good.

War on Hindu Landlords.

Last August the Moplahs began butchering their Hindu landlords and occupied Illom. Later they occupied many mansions belonging to the Hindus in the heart of the jungle. These they fortified. During the daytime Moplah pickets lie in ambush along the roads, across which they have cut down trees. In addition, they have destroyed the bridges, blocking the transportation of troops and supplies. The auxiliary police, with whom I penetrated the jungle, have suffered considerably from these ambushes, in many cases the rebels firing from trenches. Often the troops capture and kill a party of ambushers, but an elaborate system of couriers enables the Moplahs to warn their comrades. It took two days for the troops to clear the jungle around Illom, but even so the Moplah swordsmen crept back into the wilds about the town at night when the troops were encamped. When the British were ready to attack Illom they learned that the 500 defenders had departed for the Hindu country.

SOMETIMES ATE, SOMETIMES FED, YANKS IN HAITI

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—The torturing and eating of Private Lawrence and the killing and mutilation of Lieut. Smith of the marine corps by bandits of Haiti were described before the special senate investigating committee today by P. M. Pilkington of New York, a technical expert who, as manager for an American developing company, was in that country two years.

He asserted the cannibals had the primitive idea that by eating human flesh they acquired the courage of their victims, but related incidents of marines lost in the mountainous country being cared for by the bandits.

The natives were described by the witness as generally amiable, docile and amenable, and the higher class as competent to conduct an independent government.

BRITISH SLASH NAVAL AND OTHER WAR EXPENSES

LONDON, Nov. 16.—[By The Associated Press.]—In connection with its policy of retrenchment in administrative expenditures, the British admiralty has resolved to retire on pensioners eighty captains and 200 commanders early next year, according to the Evening News today. These retirements would not involve taking shore ships out of commission, it was said, and if the Washington conference agrees on the American naval restriction program, further reductions in the admiralty's personnel are contemplated.

Liquidation of the government's war stocks on the continent and in Egypt has been nearly completed.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16.—The Australian government is reducing its expenditures for defense by approximately $1,250,000, the acting minister of defense announced yesterday.

ULSTER LOSING BATTLE TO BALK PEACE IN ERIN

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Two thousand delegates from Unionist party clubs are assembling in Liverpool tonight for the national convention which will determine the fate of the coalition government as well as the Irish negotiations.

Every indication points to a sweeping victory for Austen Chamberlain, the present conservative leader, which means a victory for Prime Minister Lloyd George and the probable success of the Irish negotiations. In other words, the leaders are determined to sacrifice Ulster rather than the Unionist party.

The "die hards" have not been able to secure an outstanding leader. Col. Archer-Shee will lead the attack on the government's Irish policy. He is a typical military fire eater, without political reputation. The Duke of Northumberland will lead the attack on the continuance of the coalition.

The duke is a clever man, but his critics say he has bolshevist rebellion on the brain and the fact that he is a duke would be a great handicap in the leadership of even the conservative party of modern England.

The Ulsterites have hired sandwich men to parade the streets bearing placards reading: "Are you going to sell loyal Ulster, whose sons died for you, to the rebel Sinn Féin, who stabbed you in the back?"

In the meantime the Irish conference is at a standstill. Mr. Lloyd George left London today for Bournemouth, a south coast resort, for a few days' rest, with his wife, who is recovering from a bad chill.

Sir James Craig returned to London today and was busy with his reply to Mr. Lloyd George's last letter, but he will not send it until he has been in Liverpool and consulted with the English Conservative leaders to see in which direction the wind is blowing.

HERRICK'S BEAUTY CONTEST LETTER LANDS IN COURT

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Congressman Manuel Herrick, Oklahoma, has written himself into the Supreme court with his "beauty contest" letters. Miss Anna Ellizabeth Niebel of this city has sued him, alleging breach of promise. The girl is under age, so her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Niebel, was today appointed her guardian, pending trial.

"I received one of his letters, offering to marry the winner of the contest," Miss Niebel said. "A few days later he telephoned I was in the lead. His letter said he was handsome. Except for referring to my mother as 'the old lady,' he acted like a gentleman on the visit, Aug. 14."

"The next day he phoned me to make a 'date.' A few nights later he said, 'You have never lost your lead in the contest. My idea is to marry a girl and protect her from unwholesome influences. I am the loneliest man in town. I long for companionship. Won't we be happy?' Then he told me of his oil wells and ranch in Oklahoma."

here and confronted Inderlied with his revolver. The mail clerk overpowered him, and will get a $5,000 reward for catching a mail robber and $2,000 offered for Gardner's arrest.

"I couldn't kill this clerk," grunted the notorious bandit. "I never shoot an unarmed man."

Gardner got $25,000 in a mail robbery near San Diego and $175,000 in securities in another mail holdup near Newcastle, Cal. He has twice escaped his guards. He fled in a burst of shots during a baseball game from the Washington prison.

Exide BATTERIES

Sending Your Words Through Space

If shipwreck or accident damaged the electric generator that sends a wireless message, and were no other power available, many lives might pay the penalty. For this reason wireless stations on land and sea have storage batteries for reserve power.

Ninety per cent of the Marconi system and most of the government and private plants use Exide Batteries.

Ninety-five per cent of the central lighting stations of our great cities use Exide for emergency power; nearly every message sent over the telephone system is carried by the current from an Exide Battery.

The same rugged reliability that makes Exide Batteries dominant in every industry where batteries are used is built into the Exide made for your automobile.

Exide Service Stations are equipped to be useful to you, not only in putting the right battery into your car, but in giving skillful attention to whatever make of battery you are now using.

ACTION OF MINERS DE ON COURT

Content

Whether threats of strikes of coal miners are depends upon the Court of Appeals, until last night.

The Appellate court today heard an appeal against the recently issued by District Judge Anderson of Indianapolis case under advisement to announce a decision.

Charges and counter charges were heard and the court heard the very best of the opinion of the United Mine Workers.

Operators Charge
A. M. Belcher, one for the sixty-two years old miners involved, charged between the mine workers of the cen district. This has been 1884, he alleged, and the checkoff system union dues and other deducted from miners.

Attorney Z. T. Vinac, W. Va., also appeared, and the present intimately related to several months ago in West Virginia.

Attorney Belcher between Aug. 1, 1920, and the sixty-two years old Mine Workers of A. $2,576,000 to supply the army, with machine guns, rifles, and other.

Union Makes
William A. Glasgow, union, contended that mine operators are a trouble that will enla and increase the price.

The opposing attorney on one point—the imposition to be made by peals. Mr. Belcher in favor of the miners' in another outbreak in coal counties, West Virginia, hinted at a strike if the Anderson inj permanent.

ACTION OF COAL MINERS DEPENDS ON COURT RULING

Check Off System Bone of Contention.

Whether threats of a countrywide strike of coal miners are to be revived depends upon the United States court of appeals, union leaders said last night.

The appellate court in Chicago yesterday heard an appeal from the injunction against the checkoff system issued by District Judge A. B. Johnson of Indianapolis. It took the case under advisement, but is expected to announce a decision within a few days.

Charges and counter charges involving murder and other lawlessness followed the court hearing of the controversy between the operators of non-union mines in West Virginia and the United Mine Workers of America.

Operators Charge Conspiracy. A. M. Belcher, one of the attorneys for the sixty-two West Virginia operators involved, charged a conspiracy between the mine workers' union and operators of the central competitive district. This has been growing since 1918, he alleged, and was fostered by the checkoff system, under which union dues and other assessments are deducted from miners' monthly pay.

Attorney E. T. Vinson of Huntington, W. Va., also appearing for the operators, said the present controversy is intimately related to the outbreaks of several months ago in Mingo county, West Virginia.

Attorney Belcher charged that, between Aug. 1, 1920, and 1921, the United Mine Workers of America had spent $1,500,000 to supply its West Virginia "army" with machine guns, high powered rifles, and "other sinews of war."

Union Makes Complaints. William A. Glasgow, counsel for the union, contended that the non-union mine operators are trying to stir up trouble that will enlarge their market and increase the prices of their product.

The opposing attorneys were agreed on one point—the importance of the decision to be made by the court of appeals. Mr. Belcher said a decision in favor of the miners' union would result in another outbreak in Mingo and Logan counties, West Virginia. Mr. Glasgow hinted at a strike as a certainty if the Anderson injunction is made permanent.

CITY MANAGERS CONCLUDE THREE DAY CONVENTION

The City Managers' association ended its three day convention yesterday with two spirited sessions in which union directed flatly against the "inefficient and weak" city administrations of Chicago and New York frequently were heard.

Notable among the expressions was an address by A. B. Hatton, city government expert of Cleveland, O., who said:

"The present system gives the Thompsons and the Hyams their opportunity. Under the city manager plan campaigns would be fought out on issues, not on personalities. Chicago would have a chance to put through a real zoning law that would give results. This would be virtually impossible now."

The National Municipal league began its twenty-seventh annual convention last night with an address by Luther Gulick on municipal and state taxation.

Won't Contest Will

JUNE AVIS EVANS.

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—No contest of the will of Dan R. Hanna, who died at his country estate near Croton-on-Hudson on Nov. 3, can be made by June Avis Evans, the former Chicago actress, named in blotted marginal notations on the will. This was admitted today by Leslie C. Ferguson, her attorney.

Although Miss Evans is not an heir-at-law, and therefore cannot contest the will, said Mr. Ferguson, "there are two courses open to her in her attempt to secure her claims. One is to argue at a hearing before the surrogate of Westchester county, that the marginal bequests to her are valid and that the attempted cancellation of those bequests is invalid—because the bequests themselves were witnessed and the cancellation was not."

The second course is to bring an action against the executors of the estate on the ground that she had an understanding with Mr. Hanna that he was to leave her the money and property, which we claim."

TEAMSTERS BACK ON JOBS, UNION CHIEFS REPORT

Michael Galvin, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Teamsters' union, local 705, last night announced that nearly every member of his union who went on strike Monday in protest against a $3 a week wage cut reported for work yesterday.

"Some of our members hadn't an opportunity to learn that the strike was declared off and, consequently, didn't show up," he said. "However, the majority of the teamsters and chauffeurs were on the job. The others will be back today."

A similar report on the situation was made by Patrick Berrell, president of the International Teamsters and Chauffeurs' union, local 705, who said that no trouble was experienced at the barns in putting the men back to work.

Both officials expressed the opinion that a rehearing on their wage scale would open within a few days. It was with the understanding that if all the men would comply with the "return to work order" a readjustment of wages would be made by the employers.

$50,000 Fire Blocks Car Lines for Early Workers

A $50,000 fire in the three story brick building at 15-21 West Kinzie street yesterday blocked the State and Dearborn street car lines for nearly an hour. Kohn Bros. & Co., steamfitters, the Rollins Supply company, T. M. Duche & Sons, and Herman Reel & Co. were the tenants of the building.

ATTORNEY SAYS BURCH SUFFERED FROM DELUSIONS

Charles J. McNett, attorney, from his bed in the Evanston hospital, told Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes and Lewis Powell of Los Angeles and Paul Schenck, chief counsel for the defense, that he believed Arthur C. Burch to be suffering from a delusion at the time he was divorced by his wife, Allie Quayle Burch.

"Burch told me that his wife had tried to kill him," said Mr. McNett. "I was in bed and felt her touch me, Arthur told me, and fingers crept to my throat. Ha, ha—I fooled her. I slipped my hands between hers, and she, thinking she had my throat, squeezed."

Tells Wife He Is Dead. "She asked me if I was dead and I said I was. She placed her hand over my heart, and said I was warm and not dead at all, but I told her I wasn't cold yet."

Then, according to the story told Mr. McNett by Burch, the wife started to get the library shears, to cut Burch's father and mother.

"I thought the joke had gone far enough," said Burch, according to the witness, at this point. "I jumped up and blew in her face, scaring her."

Mrs. Burch denied having had any such experience as that described in the reported testimony.

At the North Shore hotel, in Evanston, the rival attorneys met Mrs. Dora M. Burch, the mother of the man on trial. She told of the mental change that she had seen come over her son in the last three years.

Mother Tells of "Charges." "He was a Sunday school boy before that," Mrs. Burch said, "a good student, and never gave me any trouble. But then he seemed to lose control of himself. He began to smoke and drink and go out with other women."

Attorney Schenck and the Rev. William A. Burch will probably start for Los Angeles tonight to attend the trial which begins Tuesday morning.

WOMAN TO AID BURCH

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16.—[United News.]—Mrs. Angela C. Kaufman has thrown her wealth on the side of Arthur C. Burch, son of an Evanston, Ill., minister, accused jointly with Made Lynn Obenchain of the murder of J. F. Belton Kennedy.

She announced that she would devote "any amount of effort necessary to help Burch in his fight for freedom."

Mrs. Kaufman gained notice by coming forward as the friend of Eric Mulligan of Lebanon, Mo., when he was charged with the murder of her new born babe.

Do away with back breaking rubbing—even in hard water

FOR ordinarily soft water a half package of Rinso to a tub makes a rich lather. For harder water increase the amount until you get a rich, lasting suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Where water is extremely hard it may be necessary to dissolve a full package or more to a tub.

Dissolve the amount of Rinso you have found right for the water you use in two quarts of boiling water. Pour this solution into your tub of lukewarm water—stir well.

Put in your clothes and let them soak, one hour, two hours, overnight—whatever time is convenient. Rinse, to remove the loosened dirt, till the water runs clear.

No other soap product or softener is needed with Rinso, even in the hardest water. In hard water just use more Rinso.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone

Curling Hair This Way Preserves Its Beauty

That dull, dead appearance of the hair no longer troubles the woman who has adopted the Bimoline method of keeping her tresses in curl. The result is very different from that produced by the drying, devastating waving iron. The hair appears more naturally wavy and curly, and the application is really beneficial to the life and growth of the hair.

Any drugist, of course, can supply the liquid Bimoline. A small quantity should be put on just before doing up the hair, using for the purpose a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the full length of the hair from root to tip. The effect is delightfully surprising, and there is no discoloration, no stickiness, no greasiness, nor any other unpleasant accompaniment. The hair is quite manageable to suit how it is fashioned. Fine for bobbed hair, too.

FOREIGN TRADE
MUST PAY TAX,
CONFEREES SAY

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—House conferees on the tax bill today to the elimination of foreign trade corporations and foreign trade corporations were stricken out in the senate, which was definitely ended, so far as the present bill is concerned, the movement for the encouragement of foreign trade through the exemption from taxation of Americans engaged in business with the Philippines and Porto Rico, providing their earnings are not returned to this country, will be approved by the conferees. It is expected, although action on this was not taken today.

House to Vote on Surtax Rates.
The conferees will suspend their meeting tomorrow while the house convenes upon the question of surtax rates in accordance with a promise made when the tax bill was sent to conferees without any instructions to the conferees on this matter.

The western Republicans who have been advocating the acceptance of the 50 per cent maximum surtax rate provided in the senate bill expressed confidence tonight that they will be able to win on the floor of the house. More than seventy-five Republicans are expected to vote for the acceptance of the 50 per cent maximum.

Compromise Is Favored.

The house leaders who favor the 32 per cent maximum contained in the original house bill have no hope of keeping the surtax rates at that low point and are bending their efforts toward the approval of a compromise maximum from 40 to 42 per cent.

As soon as the house acts on the question of surtax rates the senate and house conferees are expected to complete their work without much delay.

BITTER FIGHT IN
FORD-NEWBERRY
CASE UNDER WAY

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Amid bitter partisan debate the closing chapter of Henry Ford's long fight to oust Truman H. Newberry from his seat as senator from Michigan was begun in the senate today.

It may be days before the question reaches a vote, but there is every indication that Mr. Newberry will be exonerated and his right to his seat upheld. Some Republicans are threatening to bolt, and the Democrats are almost solidly against Mr. Newberry, but it is not likely that they will muster sufficient strength.

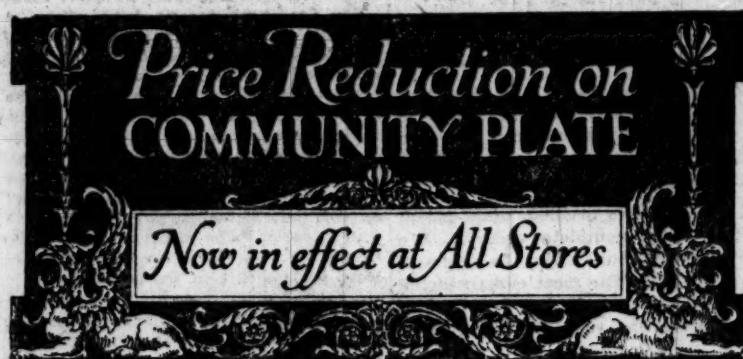

Senator Harrison, Mississippi, began the debate by charging that the Republicans were attempting to "steam roller" Mr. Newberry's exoneration through the senate while the attention of the country was focused on the armament conference. He was defeated, 63 to 1, in trying to postpone action until after the holidays.

Spencer Leads Defense.

Senator Spencer, Missouri, Republican, chairman of the committee which investigated Ford's charges that the Newberry campaign was extravagantly financed, opened for the defense. He stated that between $100,000 and $200,000 was spent in Mr. Newberry's behalf, but that more than $165,000 of this amount went for publicity which the Newberry managers regarded as necessary.

"Is there anything wrong about that?" Senator Spencer inquired.
"Yes—infamous," shouted Senator Stanley, Kentucky, Democrat.
"Mr. Ford was famous," Senator Spencer continued. "Mr. Newberry was comparatively obscure. The only way to combat this disadvantage was through publicity, and we all know that publicity costs money."
Tin Lizzie vs. Golden Chariot.
Senator Stanley characterized the controversy as "a race between a tin lizzie and a golden chariot."
"Is the situation any different in Kentucky?" Senator Spencer flung back.

"You can't buy a senator's seat in Kentucky," Senator Stanley retorted.
"Newberry's don't run in Kentucky, huh?"
Senator Hefflin, Alabama, said $50,000 was contributed to the Newberry campaign fund by Wall street.
"That is not correct," Spencer said.
"I have newspaper clippings in my scrapbook to prove it," Hefflin replied.
"The scrapbook is the place to keep such clippings," retorted Mr. Spencer.
A recess until 11 a. m. tomorrow was voted later, after the debate had continued into the night.

COURT TO SOUND DEPTH OF STOOL PIGEON SYSTEM

George Foster, alias Johnson, known to the police in their formal reports as an "investigator" for the detective bureau, will be brought before Judge Kersten this morning and asked if he "framed" a robbery so that his friend, Sgt. Michael Vaughan, could arrest the thieves.

There was a small sensation in Judge Kersten's court yesterday when Foster's name was put into the evidence by Frank Morris, who, with Roy Sullivan and Frank Baker, was on trial, accused of stealing an automobile.

Judge Kersten heard Morris' story and then ordered the proceeding stopped until Foster could be brought before him.

Charged with Assault.

Foster was arrested Oct. 12 charged with the assault of Mrs. Lydia Peterson, 208 East 46th street. Mrs. Peterson was severely beaten on the night of Sept. 10. At the time she said she believed the cause of the assault to be the grand jury investigation of the "stool pigeon system" alleged to be in vogue at the detective

BEWARE $12 WHISKY, CORONER WARNS AFTER FINDING IT IS POISON

Search for a "poison whisky" still was begun yesterday by Coroner Peter Hoffman after analysis of a sample "sniffer" of its product revealed the presence of formaldehyde. The still is said to be located in Lake county.

"Several deaths are bound to occur unless this still is immediately confiscated," the coroner said, after receiving Chemist McNally's report. "I am going to do everything in my power to find it. I understand that the owner of the still has several customers in Chicago."

"The sample was handed to me a few days ago by a well known business man. He said the price was $12 a gallon and that it tasted like good whisky."

bureau. She had reported to the state's attorney that her brother had been "framed by Foster and another investigator."

Assistant State's Attorney Robert W. Daniels was examining Morris, who had testified in his own behalf in the auto stealing case, yesterday.

"You say you were framed?" asked Mr. Daniels.

"Yes."

"Tell us about it—tell us the whole story," said Mr. Daniels.

"Well, I came to Chicago several months ago," the witness stated. "On the street one day I met Tony the Wop. He introduced me to Roy Sullivan. (Sullivan is also on trial.) Then he introduced both of us to George Foster."

"We had something to eat. Later we met Foster and he told us that he wanted us to go into Grant park and steal an automobile. He said if we got the car—well, he would take care of us."

"Sullivan and I went to Grant park and got the car. We drove it to the corner of 47th street and Prairie avenue. There we met Foster. He took the car for awhile and then told us we were to drive it to Niles, Mich. He said he would get $500 for the job."

"We went to a garage he indicated that night to get the car. When we got there Vaughan and Foster were waiting for us. We were pinched."

Judge Kersten had been paying close attention to the witness. "We had better stop this hearing, don't you think?" asked the prosecutor.

"This is a deplorable situation," said the jurist. "This is very bad. We will adjourn until tomorrow. Have that man Foster in here when court opens."

Sgt. Vaughan, who was in court, asserted that he would have the "investigator" there when court convenes.

WASH MACHINE MEN FAVOR NEWSPAPER ADS

"The newspaper finds its way into every home. Its advertisements are local and personal. Every housewife reads it. It gets the closest to her of any advertising medium. And it is to the housewife that we make our appeal."

E. B. Selts, secretary of the American Washing Machine Manufacturers' association, made this statement yesterday at the association's meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

"Our business turned the corner of business depression last July," added Mr. Selts. "We are now handling a volume of trade equal to that of 1919."

ZONE PLAN READY IN 1922; FIGURE TO SAVE BILLION

Chicago's zoning plan will be ready within fourteen months.

A saving of approximately $1,000,000 will be made in property values in Chicago within the next generation as a result of the adoption of a comprehensive zoning plan.

These were the highlights of speeches made at the Chicago day meeting of the American Civic association at the Drake hotel last night. City planning, zoning and housing, characterized by speakers as the greatest issues of the day, were the subjects discussed.

Charles Bostrom, chairman of the Chicago zoning commission was authority for the statement that the zoning plan will be ready some time in 1922. He said the work is now about one-fifth completed.

Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, and E. L. Bennett, director of zoning work in Chicago, were other speakers. Mr. Bennett's talk dealt mainly with the work thus far accomplished by the commission and the advantages of zoning.

"What we are trying to do is to create conditions favorable to industrial enterprise, to the protection of business, and the improvement of working conditions," he said. "This necessarily takes time. But it is well worth it. Zoning, we believe, will save approximately $1,000,000,000 by preventing property depreciation and in increasing property values within a thirty year period, including ten years back and twenty years ahead."

In discussing the Chicago plan, Mr. Wacker criticized congress for its failure to give Chicago adequate postal facilities. "Recently congress has put our postal program in half, giving it a building covering only one block, where we need a two block building," he said. "We must have a two block building or nothing."

BROKER SUE FOR $34,256 STOLEN BY BANKER MILES

William H. Colvin, La Salle street broker, is made a codefendant with James M. Miles, former vice president of the Standard Trust and Savings bank, now serving an indeterminate sentence in Joliet for embezzling $200,000 from the bank, in a suit for $34,256 filed yesterday in the Superior court. The plaintiff is the bank which Miles robbed. Colvin was a director at the time that Miles was accused of defaulting. Miles lost the $34,256 in deals on margins made through Colvin and then paid his losses with money taken from the bank.

CITY TOLD IT HAS RIGHT TO ROUTE BUSES

By an opinion of the city law department the way was opened yesterday for betterment of State street traffic conditions that long have confused locomotion of every kind from Van Buren to Lake streets.

On order of the city council, the local transportation committee will begin consideration of the problem at its next meeting, with a view to barring the big buses of the Chicago Motor Bus company from State street.

The corporation counsel Etelson sent to the city council a copy of a legal opinion on the city council's right to license and regulate motor bus lines, rendered April 8, 1921.

"We wish to state at the outset that the city has the power to regulate and control the operation of auto buses over the streets of the city," the opinion says.

Seven sections of article V. of the city and village act are cited to back up the opinion. The ruling says that unless licensed by the city, the city council may prohibit the operation of motor bus lines altogether and that, owing to the size of the buses, it is within the power of the aldermen to prescribe what routes they shall take.

"At our next meeting we will start work on an ordinance licensing the buses," Ald. Schwartz, chairman of the committee, said. "I, for one, am not in favor of permitting them to lumber State street any longer. I will suggest that they loop south of the present loop, say over Harrison and Congress streets."

Ald. Toman, a member of the committee, is ready to father a route which would send the buses over Jackson boulevard, Dearborn street, and Washington street.

FINED FOR SMUGGLING

Ma L. Levinson, wealthy jeweler of Cleveland, O., was fined $1,500 and costs by Federal Judge Carpenter yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of smuggling jewels. He said he brought the stones, valued at $5,000, from Poland, hidden in the cuffs of his trousers.

CHICAGO REALTY VALUE FIXED AT $2,355,367,124

The board of review, in its annual report yesterday, fixed the value of real estate in the corporate boundaries of the city at $2,355,367,124. The South Town, which includes the loop, leads all other sections of the city in real estate and personal property values at $751,645,300 for real estate and $428,457,430 for personal property.

Valuations for other towns are:

Town	Real estate	Personal property
West	$526,540,830	$142,028,278
North	194,005,226	66,005,752

Railroads	17,685,188	11,612,640
Totals	$2,355,367,124	$835,019,140

Evansville and other country towns were given a real estate valuation of $219,534,036 and personal property value of $54,911,396. Banks showed personal property at $170,438,443, and insurance companies $11,099,912.

Even at social gatherings, men manage to drift together for some touch-and-go business gossip to finish the day.

Probably your own boy, long before he is able to vote, feels the national instinct to start something.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Even if the invading forces from Belgium and France are not considered a serious menace in the world's 15-2 ball line championship, they cut quite a figure yesterday by upsetting two young American players, Jack Schaefer and Welker Cochran.

Conli was the first to cast a shadow on the championship when he trimmed Schaefer, 400 to 203, in the opening game in the afternoon, and displayed class in doing it.

An average of 40 is a good winning average even in these days of speed, and he notched these figures as a mark of 20-30 by Schaefer, which was something of a fall from his figures of 57-1-7 the preceding day.

Horreman beats Cochran.

Our second reverse came in the night game, when Horreman took the measure of Cochran, 400 to 341. Although this was an uninteresting contest in the early stages, it furnished the best finish, as until Cochran made his last miss it looked as if he would run the game out and earn fame galore.

In the interim between these two matches Willie Hoppe inserted another rivet in his championship crown by defeating G. Butler Sutton in the second afternoon game, 400 to 274. These players have opposed each other in more real matches than any other two in modern times and, as Hoppe generally has won, he was expected to repeat.

Sutton Holds Early Lead.

The Chicago veteran scored two double century runs, but his other innings were unproductive. He had a lead of 266 to 98 at one stage, but leads mean nothing to Hoppe, and with a run of 116 and an unfinished run of 136 he left the veteran 126 points behind.

While Schaefer did not have the best of the breaks against Conli, he was not the confident performer of the preceding night, and it is not likely he will go as badly again. The Frenchman went along with his mechanical style, and his runs of 133 in the third session and 107 in the fifth gave him a lead of 276 to 81. Scores: SCHAEFER—1 36 1 43 0 27 15 0 89 11—333. AVERAGE, 29.9-10. CONLI—0 27 133 0 27 24 39 4 53 4—400. AVERAGE, 40.

Hoppe Speeds Game Ends.

After missing the opening shot and having Sutton make a 2, Hoppe ran 40, playing rather laborious billiards for him. Hoppe did little in his next few innings. Sutton showed all his old time skill at close nursing when he ran 103 in the fourth inning, and again when he counted 123 in the seventh. He then led 266 to 98. In fifteen minutes Hoppe made 100, and, continuing to 116, missed the first ball on a fine two cushion shot. Two innings later he gave a versatile display in making 136 for game. Score: HOPPE—0 40 4 33 4 0 17 116 0 189 400. AVERAGE, 40. SUTTON—2 98 2 36 03 1 0 123 7 1—274. AVERAGE, 34-9.

Good Start by Cochran.

Cochran started confidently and his opening run of 77 was so finely made that even at this stage it looked as if he would walk away from the Belgian champion. The count stood 120 to 4 in favor of the American.

Horreman finally came to life and most of his points, but his other innings were unproductive. He had a lead of 266 to 98. In fifteen minutes Hoppe made 100, and, continuing to 116, missed the first ball on a fine two cushion shot. Two innings later he gave a versatile display in making 136 for game. Score: HOPPE—0 40 4 33 4 0 17 116 0 189 400. AVERAGE, 40. SUTTON—2 98 2 36 03 1 0 123 7 1—274. AVERAGE, 34-9.

NOTES OF THE CUE EXPERTS.

Kelly won from Olson, 40 to 37, in the third cushion tournament at Bensinger's Wabash avenue rooms.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE HABIT FORMING MOVIES

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

"THEY'RE ONLY BOYS."

FRIEND HARVEY: There is one article which appeared in The Wake which I have never forgotten. Many the time, sitting comfortably in the stand, I have groaned when one of the players made an error of judgment or mechanical. I had overlooked the fact that all the players were as fact only kids under a terrific strain in their eagerness to do or die for their Alma Mater. I saw the light, however, when I read your editorial about a year ago entitled "Remember They're Only Boys." For those who missed or have forgotten it, I think it ought to be reprinted at this time.

The article referred to by Tubbs is herewith reproduced in part:

Don't we take our football a bit too seriously? Those young fellows out there on the grid-iron range in age from 19 to 22 years, in the business world or any other line of endeavor they would be regarded as novices whose judgment on any question of policy would be subject to searching review in advance of its adoption.

Yet when a big football game arrives—with these boys keyed to the highest nervous pitch, often overzealous—we expect infallible judgment, perfect execution of plays, intricate formations, and absolute freedom from mechanical error in the performance of their respective duties on the field.

Don't we expect too much? Are we not unduly severe in our criticism for errors which the perpetrators feel as keenly as, or more keenly than, the most rabid partisan? So the next time that we feel some of our football heroes have failed to meet expectations or have fumbled, let us make some allowance and remember THEY'RE ONLY BOYS.

The Devil's Due.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

YOUNG BOB FITZSIMMONS, son of the great Fitz, is going along slowly, winning a bout now and then and taking his time. This was the way his famous father wanted him to go.

Bob Fitzsimmons, who was one of the greatest boxers that ever drew a crowd on a glove, made his start late and lasted longer among the champions than any other titleholder we ever had. He wanted his son Bob to become a professional boxer, and advised him to wait until he was a man grown, with all a man's endowments and strength. At that old Bob often told me that young Bob had the making of a champion, and a harder hitter.

Has Fighting Spirit.

Young Bob will have to go some to make that prediction good. He has the real fighting spirit. When America went into the war Young Bob came to see me.

"Dad told me to go to you for advice if he wasn't around," he explained. "and now that he's dead I remembered what he told me. I just want to ask you how I can fix it to have my share of mother's property turned over to my brother and sister. I'll be in the army in a month and maybe I won't come back from over there. If I don't come back I want them to have my share, and if I do come back, I can take care of myself anyway and won't need it. I'm in a hurry to get it fixed up."

What's your hurry? I asked. "You have a month."

"Well, no," said Young Bob. "I'm just the kind of a fellow Uncle Sam needs—nobody depending upon me. I want to make the best kind of a soldier, so I'm going to get into shape. I have four weeks. I'm going down the New Jersey coast to a place I know of and spend that month training and practicing rifle shooting. I want to be fit and a good shot, so I can do my best."

Bob's property transfer was made, and Young Bob went into a month's training, as he said he would.

Guess he made a good soldier. I know he flatter turned down an offer to be made a boxing instructor instead of going into the ranks. Said he didn't want to have a soft job. He wanted to go where the fighting was. Good stuff in him.

A Wonderful Match.

Jack Britton says that Benny Leonard hasn't been after him for a welterweight championship match—his been after Leonard. This will be some match when they get together for the welter title in a decision bout.

Jack is a master of his craft, and has the confidence of a champion. Leonard couldn't do anything with him before. But fifteen rounds, with a decision, would make them both something they have, Leonard trying for the welter title and a new fortune, and Britton confidently intent on proving himself master of the lightweight champion as a boxer.

Don't know of any match in the lighter classes that could equal it. (Copyright 1921. By Bell Syndicate.)

OHIO FAVORED TO DOWN ILLINOIS IN SATURDAY GAME

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Unless Ohio State shows a marked reversal in form and Illinois plays much better football than its most ardent supporters expect, the Buckeyes should be victor over the Orange and Blue eleven at Columbus Saturday.

While Coach Zuppke's men gave Chicago a battle in the first half of the annual struggle decided last Saturday, Illinois has not the reserve strength to stand up to the Buckeyes for one hour of actual play. This was shown in the Maroon battle when the downstate eleven led at the end of the first half, 6 to 0, but was unable to hold the advantage in the remaining two periods.

Ohio Line Is Strong.

Ohio's line is by far superior to the Illinois forward wall. With the exception of Young at center, the Buckeyes eleven will present a veteran line. Huffman and Spier are a pair of reliable tackles. The former was captain of last year's eleven and was runner-up of the best in the middle west. Spier is a consistent player who generally manages to stop everything sent his way.

There is an experienced guard, one of the best in the west. Piskey, the star guard, was a member of the 1918 Ohio eleven and afterward went to Princeton. He is a great player, but seldom has been able to stand the wear and tear of a hard game.

Myers an Ideal End.

Capt. Myers is an ideal end. There is little about him which he does not know. He is a quick thinker and is on top of the ball all the time. Styker, the other end, is fitting into Coach Wilco's machine in a pleasing manner.

Illinois cannot match this forward wall. The Orange and Blue forwards, however, may do like the Michigan line did at Wisconsin last Saturday. The Wolverines were on their toes all the time, took their edge of the ball, and fought the Badger forwards all the way. It was this sort of play which enabled Michigan to hold its opponent to a tie.

If the Illinois forwards can outcharge the Buckeye linemen and send them back into their own plays, then Coach Zuppke's team has an outside chance. A lot will depend upon the Illinois' smashing ends, and the secondary defense must be on the alert for the open attack.

Illini Plan Open Attack.

Coach Zuppke may figure he cannot stop the Ohio offense, but will plan an attack which he hopes will outscore that of the Buckeyes. There are many coaches in the country who figure their offense their best defense. This has been especially true of Georgia Tech and Penn State, and John Heisman of Pennsylvania always has planned along these lines.

It is a certainty that Illinois will not be able to gain consistently by a close attack. Ohio can afford to play a loose defense, depend upon the line to break up all plays, and not permit the secondary defense to move up to assist the forward wall.

Illini Have Outside Chance.

On the other hand, Ohio can employ the close and open attack for desired results. It is doubtful whether the Illini line can stop the Buckeyes' straight rushes without the aid of the secondary defense. If secondary players are pulled up close to the scrimmage line, then Ohio will cut loose with forward passes.

Dope, no matter how figured, favors Ohio. Illinois, however, must be given an outside chance, as allowances must be made for the unexpected reversal of form which may be shown by both eleven.

It does not take much to change complexion of evenly fought games under the present rules.

MANY GRID STARS IN TIGER LINEUP

Four of the greatest varsity football teams in recent years will be represented in the Cleveland Tiger backfield when it tackles the Staleys at the Cuyahoga stadium. Jimmie Thompson of Carlisle, left half back and leader of the Tigers, has a former Harvard star in Quarter Back Brower. Right half is taken care of by the speedy Guyon of Georgia Tech's eleven, and the line plunging full back, Calcutt of West Virginia, completes the classy quartet.

During his career Thompson has won more worth while honors than any other athlete ever developed in American colleges. Twice in succession he was selected on Camp's All-American eleven, and he also was chosen on the star team of all time.

This game has an important bearing on the pro title, and the Staleys are taking no chances. They hope to stretch their string of straight victories up to seven. Tickets for Sunday's game go on sale today at the Thomas & Wilson store, Wabash avenue and Monroe street.

HUSKY PACKERS PLAY CARDINALS

Paddy Driscoll and his Chicago Cardinals have booked a strenuous game of football for Sunday at Normal Park. They are slated to hook up with the Husky Green Bay Packers, who will present a lineup which numbers such stars as "Cub" Buck, former University of Wisconsin tackle; Barry Malone, Lambeau, Coughlin, and Hayes, all heroes of the collegiate game at Notre Dame.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Spalding's and at Pete's place, 65th street and Racine avenue. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

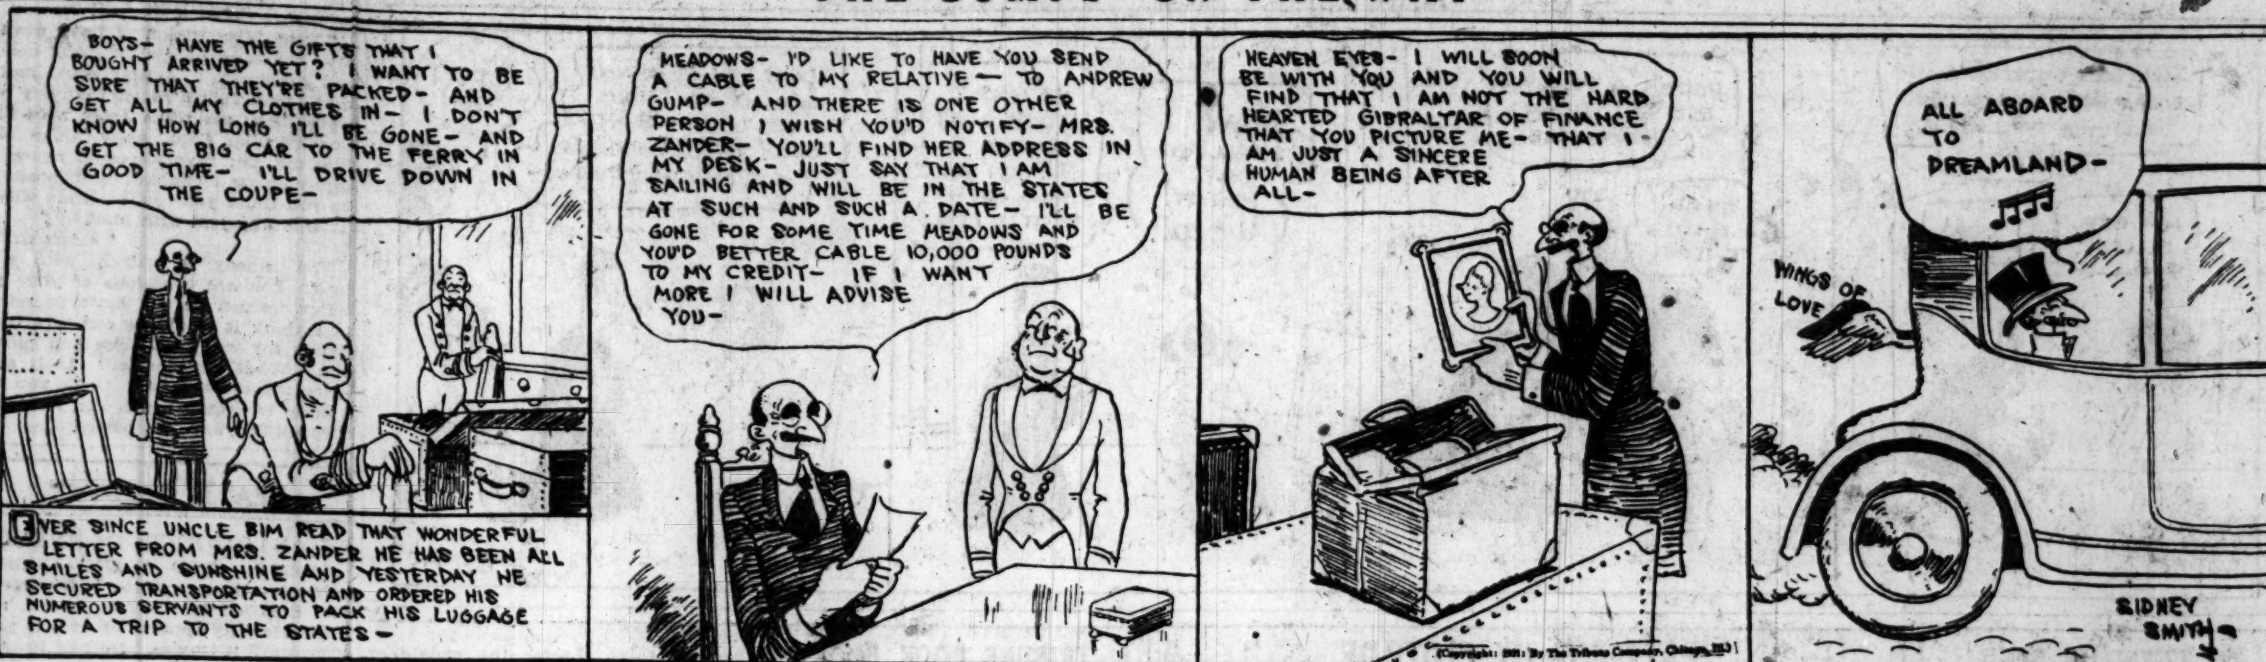

SPORTING NOTES.

The West Side Standards, with a strengthened lineup, will play the undefeated Opals in the semi-finals for the Rishelmer trophy at 20th street and Eastern avenue Sunday. Kickoff at 2:30.

The Oakley eleven of Oak Park will meet the Columbus of Austin for the suburban title Nov. 27 at Long and North avenues. The winner will play the Austin grocers.

Managers of the north and northwest side teams are asked to attend a meeting in room 1005 Wabash building at 8 o'clock, when plans for the indoor season will be discussed.

MAROONS SHOW SPIRIT IN DRILL FOR BADGERS

BY ALBION HOLDEN.

The process of keying up the University of Chicago football team for the final game of the year with Wisconsin has started.

Stagg field was a noisy place last night with three teams running signals for over two hours, and all thirty-three men roaring as they dashed through formations. Coach Stagg and his assistants, Norgren, Paine, Huntington, and Jackson, chased the varsity squad, urging them to a fighting pitch.

After two hours of signal drill on the muddy practice field and a series of wind sprints, the team was dismissed. Every man on the squad was on the field. Strohmeyer and Bryan are the only men not in shape to go the route Saturday, but both can be used for a time if needed.

The hay was raked off the playing field yesterday. Under a foot of hay, the ground had sweated, but dried out quickly in the sun. Before dark, fresh hay was again piled on the field, and unless it rains Saturday, when the ground will be cleared again, the surface will be in perfect condition.

St. Johns Military Academy Wins Midwest Prep Title

Delafield, Wis., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—St. Johns Military Academy won the middle west championship for prep and military schools this afternoon, swamping Kemper Military school, 56 to 0.

The visitors were completely outclassed and after the opening of the first period, during which they put up their best defense, were forced to punt continually.

Lake Forest Academy to Play Culver Team Saturday

Lake Forest academy alumni and students will accompany the football team to Culver Saturday for the struggle between the academy eleven.

Coach Ralph Jones will claim the western academic championship for Lake Forest if his team is the victor. The team and rooters will leave on a special train over the Pennsylvania at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

PLAY FOR SUBURBAN TITLE.

The Austin Pros and Proviso Stars will clash Sunday at the Washington and 1st avenue gridiron for the suburban pro honors. The kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

MICHIGAN.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Definite announcement that Capt. Duke Dunne and Eddie Usher would be unavailable to play Saturday against the Gophers was made today by Coach Yost, who stated that both men had played their last game for the Maize and Blue. Among others who will represent Michigan for the last time Saturday will be Vick, Stokete, and Wilson. The backfield will be composed of Uteritz, Stokete, Cappon, and Roby. Kipke is sure of getting in at half back. Kirk and Goebel have recovered from their injuries and will play their regular positions at the flanks. Multhead and Johns will play tackles with Wilson and Pedro at guards and Vick at center.

MINNESOTA.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The Minnesota football season officially ended this afternoon with the usual ceremony of "burning the shoe" to signify the last practice of the season. Into the fire also went Arnold's crutches. He hobnobbed around on a cane today and even though he will make the trip to Ann Arbor, there isn't a chance of him getting into the game. Following the big bonfire and celebration by the students the football squad departed for Chicago tonight. Tomorrow the team will work out in Chicago, making the last lap of their journey to Jackson, Mich., Thursday night. Dr. Williams said that his team was badly crippled, but the boys hoped to bring back the little brown jug.

WISCONSIN.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The Badgers had a strenuous workout today, consisting of a scrimmage against the Irons and All Americans. The varsity is handling itself well on both primary and secondary defense of Chicago plays. Coach Richards has been drilling his team on Chicago stuff for a long time and they seem to be meeting Stagg's offense in an efficient manner. As for their own offense, the backs and line are going well, so the Wisconsin eleven is almost certain to show better form than against Michigan.

ILLINOIS.

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—With a number of the regulars resting on the sidelines, the Illini scrimmaged in mud and rain today for the contest at Columbus. Once more Zuppke drilled his squad on breaking up the dreaded forward pass attack of the Buckeyes. Coachie, the clever fresh quarter, impersonated Workman. Don Peden, who pulled such a pretty run against Chicago, is Zuppke's only ace and the slender half back did not go into hard scrimmage. Jack Granlie continued to rest.

OHIO.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Another rainy night, which flooded the Ohio field, caused the Buckeye football squad to be taken to the Coliseum for a short practice, with only two more nights of practice before the game. Coach Wilco will be compelled to have a hard scrimmage tomorrow to get the men into shape. There is no overconfidence on the part of the Buckeyes; they know too well how the Illinois team tore up Cooey for a time last Saturday.

NOTRE DAME.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The entire Notre Dame squad will make the trip to Milwaukee Friday for the Marquette game Saturday afternoon. Although most of the players have carried on previous trips, three full teams making the pilgrimage to Iowa and the east, a few of the ambitious under dogs on the squad will get their first traveling of the year. The first string scrimmaged the freshmen tonight and ran through them at will, while the Marquette plays used by the footballers were easily stopped.

ILLINI EDITORS PRAISE NAME OF 'HUFF FIELD'

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The Illinois campus today read the Tribune opinions on christening the new athletic field "Huff field," and apparently in-lorced every word. The Daily Illini editorially said:

"From Harvey T. Woodruff in THE TRIBUNE has come a reiteration of the suggestion of the Daily Illini last spring that the stadium memorial be called 'Huff field.' This stand, taken by us promptly, is significant as coming from without the university. It shows us that the country at large is interested in Illinois and her stadium project. But it goes further. It shows that the work of G. Huff during his twenty-six years at the University of Illinois has not passed by unnoticed. G. Huff is known and appreciated as far as the name of Illinois athletes."

"Calling the recreational field after Mr. Huff will not in any way interfere with the idea of the stadium being a memorial to the Illini of the war. The memorial stadium, with its massive construction, its court of honor, and its dedicatory column, will still be the most imposing monument to the war heroes the middle west can boast."

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—After an all day downpour Jordan field was a sea of mud, forcing the Indiana team to seek higher ground east of the regular lot, where signals were rehearsed. Wilkins, who has been on the sick list, ran one last quarter and landed the other. "Big" John Leonard, lineman of Chicago, was unable to be wrenched in the Iowa game, is unable to work, but is expected to be in shape for Purdue.

Universal announces itself as quite proud of "The Fox" which was written by Harry Carey himself. Certainly there is far more reason to rejoice over it than over a number of their recent pictures. The story is rather long drawn out, but it is the whole, an interesting one, and it gives Mr. Carey a chance to display another facet to his w. k. histrionic prowess.

Mr. Carey is just plain simp for most of the picture. He is a sweet and easygoing. He gets out of one fix just to put his foot in another. Through his troubles he is aided by a ragged youngster whom he has adopted and befriended by the sheriff's posse, who are headed by none other than the sheriff himself. The ragged youngster turns out to be none other than a secret service man, who comes nobly to his assistance in the rounding up of the "Painted Child" bandit gang, who are headed by none other than the sheriff himself.

Mr. Carey's work throughout shows considerable finesse. As the sheriff, he is a good actor, and as the ragged youngster, he is a good actor. The production is fairly well photographed and directed.

CLOSEUPS.

While the Jackie Coogan picture is under way, the little star keeps everybody busy playing hide and seek during the waits between the taking of scenes. The people who have it in charge have the right idea. They want him to be a real kid in the picture. To do that they can't make a little old man of him in real life. And so the whole Jackie Coogan company plays games by order of the director.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

How to Put Flour Into a Cake.

The successful cake maker has a few rules or practices which must be followed in making any cake without recipe whatever. And perhaps it is more important to know how to put flour to whipped eggs without destroying the work that has been done on them than anything else.

We beat eggs long enough to get a perfectly homogeneous, air stiffened mass, one stiff enough to hold up sugar and four additions, and then to make these additions in the most careful way possible. The more carefully we can add flour the less we can, within reason, use, and the lighter and moister will be our cake and easier to bake. Be sure it is set before taking from oven. Otherwise it may happen that a person without a well developed cooking judgment may be following a perfectly reliable recipe get a cake that is too stiff and dry.

An amateur following the direction "Sift a little flour over the mixture and fold it in," will often get a cake that has little lump of flour in it. How

"Dear Miss Blake: I have always been considered a girl of great charm and personality. A year ago I met a young man I liked better than any one I ever met; yet when I am with him I feel peculiar about many things. He likes me, but says we could never be happy unless I change my disposition. Do you think you could tell me why I act this way just with him?"

"The remedy is entirely with you, dear. You are conscious of your peculiar manner in the boy's presence, so I think it would be comparatively simple for you to change and please him. What? The matter? Is it self-consciousness or what? Or do you act mean? In either event, you have the cure within your own power."

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK NEW YORK—(Special Correspondence)—Looping the hoop—this is a feat performed by some of the new dance frocks. Far, instead of having the hoop in its original zone, some of the designers—notably Lanvin—have placed it down near the hem. Many of such frocks are in shot taffeta, and lovely are the colors found in their billowing skirts. Above we show one of these taffeta dance frocks in mauve gleaming with rays of green. This dress, designed for the debutante, has no hoop, but the fullness of its skirt is emphasized by flowers of green chiffon studded with silver spangles and centering strands of taffeta ribbon. The bodice and sleeves are also trimmed with the silver spangles. Edith Mason Makes

Sensational Debut in

'Madama Butterfly'

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The chief thing in considering the performance of "Madama Butterfly" at the Auditorium last night is to sort out a set of superlatives and put them in the proper places.

Looking back at it, one has a mild sort of wonder as to whether the opera was ever given in Chicago before. That is the kind of a performance it was.

From whatever angle you look at it, as a matter of singing, of picture, of scenery, of lighting, it was in the language of Xenophon, about three stages and four paragraphs ahead of any previous performance.

To those who were there, a complete recollection of the performance is to recall that Edith Mason in her debut, Edward Johnson, Irene Pavlouska, and Giacomo Rimini were in the four chief roles, and that Giorgio Tozzi conducted. Those who have been constantly diligent in their attendance in the past will also remember that there has been no scene comparable to the one of the second act since the Saturday afternoon that Galli-Curci made her debut four years ago.

The singers were called before the curtain in ones, twos, and threes. The "Cho-Cho-San" and "Suzuki" were fairly buried behind massed embankments of flowers.

For the first time of the season the conductor was coaxed out into the open of the footlights, and then recalled over and over again. I confess that I completely lost count of the numbers of times the curtains were drawn aside. There was something rather too exciting going on to indulge in arithmetical exercises. At any rate, when it was finally over, there were several hundred pairs of blistered palms in great need of cooling.

Miss Mason's first performance with the company thus registered her as the maiden kind of a success, and there are several good reasons why the hit she made will be a permanent one. In the first place her voice is extraordinarily lovely, and it is a fact, but all the way up and down its full range, which means both extraordinary gifts by nature and acquisition by study and development.

Also, and less frequently found, this beautiful voice has been made an instrument to project emotion. Miss Mason transmits smiles and tears, gayety and tragic disillusionment, and you are never in the slightest doubt as to which one is meant. For some time she has been a sensation abroad. There is little doubt that she will be no less in America.

Mr. Johnson likewise took his place as Pinkerton, the same sort of a place that Miss Mason did as Cho-Cho-San. The only unfortunate part of it is that the little duet kept him off the stage for one act. After the two years of his career with the company, it was a pleasure to see him in this part. He had manners, imagination, a voice with a head on it, and a personal charm that is a personal charm. Miss Mason was something more beautiful than his first act, but just at present I do not see how that can be.

Score another for Miss Pavlouska, who for several seasons has been the best of the Suzuki, and this year is better than ever in voice, style of singing, and impersonation; also for Mr. Rimini as Sharpless, dignified, well-mannered, quietly imposing in all respects, a consul in whom one could believe.

Score several for Mr. Polacco, who makes more out of the score of "Madama Butterfly" than any one else ever imagined was in it. It is curious, this wizardry of his. He makes a slight change of tempo here, introduces a bit of a contrast there, and to your amazement, the score is entirely transformed.

Score finally for a new set of scenery with imagination in it, and for some of the most charming light effects I have even seen. I refer particularly to the last ten minutes of the first and second acts.

Miss Gordon will make her first appearance tonight in "Monna Vanna." Loden Muratore and George Baklanoff will be with her.

When the curtain rose last night on the first act of "Madama Butterfly" the main floor seats were occupied, but by the end of the first act all but two of the fifty-six boxes and every main floor seat was filled. It has been suggested that Chicago opera-goers follow the example set by Mr. Harold F. McCormick, who, with his guests, has been seated all three nights of this season by the time the opera opened.

One of the most attractive box parties was one at which Mrs. Caswell Alst Sharp was hostess to three debutantes and their escorts, including her daughter, Miss Alst Sharp, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Miss Marouska Ruse, Miss Roland Boswell, Harlan Edmondson, and William Covington. Miss Rodger was wearing a gown of amethyst velvet with a band of silver cloth in her hair. Miss Schmidt's dress was of blue velvet with a front panel of gold and black brocade. She wore a wide band of brocade around her neck, and Miss Russell wore a quaint frock of blue and taupe brocade silk, ruffled and frilled and trimmed with such feathers.

Another interesting party of young people was one chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson Jr. In it were Miss Eleanor Haddon, looking stunning in a black velvet gown and a brilliant necklace; Miss Harriet McLaughlin, in a simple blue velvet frock; Miss Wobolt Blair, and Hunt Wentworth.

With Mrs. Harold McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Penobly, and William McCluer. Mr. and Mrs. James Minotto entertained a family party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Alton B. Swift.

Mrs. Bryan Lathrop's box was occupied by her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harbrow Brown and their daughters, Miss Rose Brown and Mrs. Ralph Miller. Mr. William, and James B. Walcott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter,

Friends of Opera to Aid Students in Obtaining Free Seats

At a meeting of the Friends of Opera yesterday at the Arts club, Mrs. Frank D. Stout, Mrs. William H. Scriben, and Mrs. Russell Turner were appointed to serve on a committee to act as a sort of a liaison between subscribers to the opera, who are not going to use their tickets, and music students who would be glad to use the tickets. 'SHOWDOWN' IN BUILDING STRIFE
SOON, LABORSAYS

Carpenters May Ask for Sympathetic Walkout.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A "showdown" between the carpenters' unions and other building crafts over the Landis award appears to be under way. Word in labor circles last night was that officials of the Carpenters' District Council contemplate placing a resolution before the Building Trades Council at its meeting tomorrow night, that all building unions should walk out of jobs which "outside" carpenters are being employed.

Weeks ago the Building Trades Council voted to abide by the Landis decision, while the carpenters from the out-let refused to be a party to the arbitration process. The great majority of the unions are following the award.

Citizens Want Cleanup.

Yesterday the citizens' "cleanup" committee, in launching its campaign against crafts and contractors who are violating the Landis decision, reported it has supplied 115 carpenters from outside Illinois, making some 1,200 carpenters at work in Chicago now on the "open shop" basis.

Many of them are said to be union men from outside cities, particularly Detroit, and they are working on the basis of $1 an hour. Announcement was made that all demands for men could be met by the committee, which also would give protection of various kinds to both employers and employees. In addition, under modified rules, some 2,000 other craftsmen are estimated to be doing work which, under the old rules, which Judge Landis called "oppressive and burdensome," could be performed only by carpenters.

On the heels of all this came the reports that the carpenters' union would seek the support of the other crafts before the "open shop" in their case become wide open. As many of the labor chiefs view it, if the move is pushed, it may lead to a split and a more definite line of cleavage between the unions which are going through with the Landis award and those which are not.

Cleanup to Be Thorough.

The cleanup process goes for owners and architects, too, material men, and money lenders, the citizens' committee said.

What the committee plans to do was set forth in detail by Thomas E. Donnelly of the action group of six.

About three-fourths of the labor unions have come through clean on the "open shop" basis, and I want to say we have no fight with them.

"What about those unions and contractors who have not come through clean? We are going to see that in those trades the work will go on regardless of the union and regardless of whether the man is a union or a non-union man. That is a definite declaration of the open shop in those portions of the building trades that are not playing square with the award.

To Aid Contractors, Too.

"What are we doing for the contractors? We will undertake to give them protection. We will defend their lawsuits and insure their jobs against riot, so that the contractors will be free to go ahead and take any job at prices which disregard the strike factor, which otherwise would be necessary.

"As to funds," Mr. Donnelly said, "the campaign has already been under way for some months, but more will be needed.

"We are going to ask the citizens to put up almost as much money as they have paid in one year for graft, and that is a lot of money."

LARGE BUILDING INCREASE.

New York, Nov. 16.—A sharp increase in building last month was shown by figures from 137 cities made public tonight by Bradstreet's.

The total value of building for which permits were issued in October was $1,073,846,000, as against $1,049,606,906 in September and only $92,175,533 in October, 1922.

This indicates a gain of 11.9 per cent over September and $1.6 per cent over October a year ago. The total for all cities so far reporting for October was said to be second only to the aggregate of April, 1923, when the building boom reached its crest.

STEWART ESTATE
SETTLES CLAIMS OF SEATTLE MEN

Horse Clipping Part-ners Get $250,000.

Search of the records of the Surrogate court at Riverhead, L. I., where the will of John K. Stewart, millionaire founder of the Stewart Manufacturing company and the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company, was filed, yesterday revealed more family and business secrets.

Principal among them was that payments of $250,000 had been made from the Stewart estate to settle claims against it made by former partners of the speedometer man and their relatives.

Aided by Seattle Men.

These partners were Arthur and Michael Conlon of Seattle, Wash., with whom Stewart became acquainted when he was seeking his fortune.

They had aided him in the invention of the horse-clipping machine, from which the speedometer originated, and their claims against the estate were considered so good that the settlement was made.

In this connection it was revealed that one of the Conlons, Michael, had changed his name from Conlon to Clark. It was his widow, Mrs. Martha S. Love of Pasadena, who shortly after the death of Stewart sued the estate for $1,500,000 in her own behalf and that of her son, known under the name of Thomas A. Clark. This was one of the suits which was included in the $250,000 settlement.

Ignored in Second Will.

Young Clark had been named as an heir of Stewart in one of the two wills left by Stewart. This was the will which was filed in Chicago and the will which young Clark the income of $150,000 until he should become of age. The New York will, filed in Riverhead, left out this provision.

The hearing on the claims against the Stewart estate was held in Chicago. The claims were against Philip C. Lindgren, auxiliary administrator of the estate, two prominent law firms—those of McKinstry, Taylor & Patterson and Winston, Strawn & Shaw—collected $62,660.66 in legal fees for arranging a compromise.

WILMETTE IRONS
OUT ITS ZONING
ROW; ALL'S WELL

Wilmette's row over zoning that threatened to disrupt the village government, split families, and array neighbor against neighbor is settled and peace reigns.

Last night the village board set aside a fourteen acre section in the northwestern part of the town as a residence section and thus disposed of the last trouble.

The village is divided by the Northwestern railroad, the east half being a residence section and the west a factory district. The trustees all live in the eastern half. They had decided the fourteen acres should go into the factory district and this aroused the wrath of property owners, who claimed their property would be depreciated by the proximity of an industrial area.

COUNCIL ORDERS
QUIZ ON FIGHT
PICTURE PERMIT

Maypole Charges "Select Group" Manipulation.

Issuance of a permit for exhibition of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures in Chicago, pursuant to an opinion rendered by Corporation Counsel Ettelson, caused the city council yesterday to order a full inquiry into "all the circumstances and reasons surrounding" the issuance of the permit.

The order for the investigation, presented by Ald. George Maypole, provoked a brief, but hot argument in the council.

"I'm in favor of prize fighting," Ald. Maypole declared. "I saw these fight pictures and I enjoyed them."

"On the other hand, our censorship ordinance, upheld by the State Supreme court, bars the showing of any 'unlawful act.' Prize fighting is unlawful in Illinois."

Cites Other Instance.

"Manipulation by a select group resulted in the issuance of a permit for 'Wild Oats,' a picture so vile and rotten that no one would go to see it if it were known beforehand what the patron was to be put up against."

"Yet more manipulation resulted in the refusal of a permit for a play based on Oliver Twist, because one of the characters is a pickpocket."

Ald. Maypole charged that the working of the censorship ordinance proves that the corporation council is in reality the censor of the city's motion pictures.

Ald. Anderson flew to the defense of Corporation Counsel Ettelson. Ald. Maypole attempted to answer him. Ald. Bowler tried to choke off the debate on a point of order and Mayor Thompson upheld him.

"Alright," shouted Maypole. "you may be able to silence the facts about this permit here, but they will come out before the committee."

Order Goes to Committee.

The order for the inquiry, and another directing that the recommendations of the censorship commission appointed in 1918 be studied and reported to the city council, was referred to the judiciary committee.

Two resolutions from Ald. Eaton, ordering the preparation of a plan for filling up the west fork of the south branch of the river and the Illinois and Michigan canal, were sent to committee.

"The river, between Hoyne and Kenton avenues, is stagnant and a menace to health," Ald. Eaton said. "The canal and the river are useless and costly in that they make many bridges necessary and are stifling the development of the communities which they bisect."

Ald. Kostner introduced an order directing that the words "City of Chicago, For City Business Only" be painted on all city owned automobiles in four inch letters, to prevent the use of such cars on joy rides and in private business. The order was sent to committee.

Arrange for Diaz Visit.

Mayor Thompson appointed Ald. Metz, chairman of an official committee, and Cyrus H. McCormick, chairman of a citizen's committee to invite Gen. Armando Diaz of the Italian army to visit Chicago, Nov. 20.

Ald. Frank J. Link, who has been ill for six months, attended yesterday's meeting. Since he was taken ill he has lost 100 pounds and many of his colleagues did not know him. At one time the alderman sent him flowers, believing that he was dying.

EMPLOYERS ASK
ARBITRATION ON
PRINTERS' WAGES

Arbitration of the wages and hours controversy in the job printing industry was called for yesterday by the employers in union shops. A meeting between the scale committee of Typographical Union No. 16 and of the Franklin division, embracing union job printing establishments, was unable to reach any compromise or conclusion.

An impasse being recognized by both sides, the employers suggested arbitration and told the union the customary notice would be sent over this morning.

The union will have until Monday for a reply. Yesterday's action applies only to the compositors.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING

HER PHANTOM LOVER
By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

INSTALLMENT XLVI.
It was on Andrew's tongue to say that he did not know what she meant, or to infer that she blamed him for the disgrace he'd brought upon himself, but he was not equal to the lie. He simply stood there, looking frightfully tall in the low-ceilinged cabin, and so very miserable.

"Andrew, that girl—that girl!"
"She's nothing to me and never was," Andrew said breathlessly. "O, I know what you've heard. What else could I do when her mother asked me to find her?"

"You seemed to know where to look for her," Crystal said, putting her finger with dreadful feminine accuracy on the weak spot. "And I've been so unhappy. All day it seemed as though my heart would break."

There were not many reproaches after that, for Andrew took her in his arms, and she sobbed against his shoulder, comforted a little by his nearness. Letty Price dwindled in value as a source of woe, and Uncle Martin again assumed his right proportions, which were huge.

"You can't believe I could love anybody but you," Andrew whispered. "Why, you're the most wonderful girl, the most beautiful girl in all the world. It doesn't need your uncle to tell me what I am compared to you. I know it. All I'm afraid of—and I'm more afraid than ever you've guessed—is that you'll get tired of me. You won't have anybody but me—after we're married."

I only want you, Andrew. I'll be just as happy as anything. I've got a couple of thousand pounds of my own. You didn't know that, did you, dearest? Well, if Uncle Martin won't let me have it, I'll get Ted to make his mother lend me enough to furnish our home. In another year I'll be of age and can pay her back."

"I'm afraid I haven't got so much saved as I ought to have," Andrew said regretfully, thinking of money he'd squandered which he might just as well have laid by for such an event as confronted him now.

The talk had drifted steadily away from that arid affair of marriage, the element in fact, which Ted had discarded from the first.

Andrew had discovered (that by taking his holiday with an extra week at his own expense, say somewhere on the Isle of Wight, he could thereby establish a residence which would enable him to marry at the end of that time. The same thing could be done right here in Rockport without fuss and bother, only that unromantic fact had escaped Andrew's attention. To elope, one must run away.

"I shall pretend to Uncle Martin that I've given up all idea of you," Crystal said, wildly enthusiastic. "Only it will be dreadful not seeing you for three weeks. And I don't suppose we'd better write."

"You can write to me," said Andrew. "Look here, I've taken today off because I had to get my head stitched up again, but I shan't be able to take off tomorrow. I could get here about 6:30 or a little after. If you're alone and the coast is clear, sit on deck and wave a handkerchief when you see me around the point. By that time I'll have all the details worked out. Meanwhile, you her uncle's pleasure, or until he could make some plan for deporting her from the neighborhood.

Incidentally, Lady Westhaven was to get in touch with Mrs. Crouch and put it before her tactfully to use her influence with her impudently aspiring son.

"She looked to be a thoroughly sensible woman," said Drake, recalling the good impression the dimples had made upon him that morning in the police court. "No doubt she'll see eye to eye with us in this scandalous affair. And then, of course, there's that girl, Letty Price. You might find out while you're about it if Crouch has been fooling around her to any extent. She may have a bigger claim on him than we know."

So Doris said she would call on Mrs. Crouch. She chose the fashionable hour of 5 o'clock.

Letty Price, of the damaged eye, was in the shop looking sulky and subdued. Lady Westhaven interrogated her sweetly, and Letty—considerably surprised—flew back into the kitchen to tell Mrs. Crouch that her ladyship of West Court was outside, wishing a word with her.

Altogether it had been a worrying time for Andrew's mother. Not only was there the disgrace of his being arrested and fined, but she had been obliged to produce the ten pounds' surdy demanded by the court. The fine he had managed to pay himself. Ten pounds is a lot of money when reckoned out of the profits of a small shop. Mrs. Crouch felt particularly aggrieved with Letty, the cause of it all. Letty with her cheap finery and coarse ways was rendered even more common in Mrs. Crouch's opinion by the black eye.

CUT IN GAS, "L,"
PHONE, AND CAR
RATES IMPENDS

Utilities Board Chief for a Reduction.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chairman Frank L. Smith of the Illinois Commerce Commission reiterated his desire yesterday to reduce surface and elevated car fares, gas rates, and phone charges in Chicago. His position is that the price level on nearly all necessities has been lowered and that public utility service rates should follow. His statement came during the brief hearings of the gas and elevated companies. He said: "We believe that rates will bear a reduction."

This declaration makes it reasonably certain that the gas company will not be permitted, as it has requested, to recoup $12,174,343 from the gas consumers. This is the difference between what the company has earned in 1918-1919-1920 and a dividend of 7 1/2 per cent for the three years, which the old utilities commission said the company might earn.

Consumers Won't Get Money Back.

By the same token, the gas consumers will not receive $44,054,224 for which Donald Richberg, special gas attorney for the city, has made claim to the commission. This is the amount which Richberg contends the company has collected in "unjust profits through the imposition of excessive rates" in excess of 7 per cent on the investment between 1897 and 1919.

In that period the company asserted yesterday that it had only paid $42,723,970 in dividends, which was only an average of 6.04 per cent on its outstanding capital stock.

Richberg bases his calculations on what he asserts are "the investments" of real money in the properties. These he places in the neighborhood of $60,000,000, while, from the company's viewpoint they have $38,500,000 in stock outstanding, had $46,286,000 in funded debt in October, 1920, and are liable for other bonds to the extent of $25,000,000.

George Cooke, attorney for the company, characterized Richberg's statement to the commission as "most disrespectful, scurrilous, and untrue, in many places untrue, as an attempt to poison the minds of the commissioners and obtain unfair publicity." He wanted it stricken from the files of the commission, which will give its decision later.

Companies File Statements.

The companies filed its statement of costs for the last year. These show that the cost of gas at the time it reaches the burner was $1.0093 per 1,000 cubic feet in September, 1920, and only $0.8217 last September. That is not taken as conclusive. The statement shows that the cost was greater in each of seven months last year than in the corresponding months of the previous year. But the cost of downward, reaching a low level of $0.7809 last June, as compared with $0.859 for the preceding June.

The elevated roads also filed a statement for the last month ending Sept. 30 last. This represents that with a 10 cent cash fare and four rides for 35 cents the roads have actually lost $38,149.33 in the last nine months after paying operating expenses and interest charges. But in these expenses is a replacement reserve of $362,861.28, which apparently the elevated companies did not have when they were operating on a nickel fare.

Heavy Tax Increase.

The ending of $1,733,849, which have been applied to interest charges represent only 2.73 per cent on the valuation fixed by the old utilities commission. The roads contend that they will have to pay the tax increase of $214,614, which, they claim, offsets the reduction in expense which they have been able to effect.

David H. Jackson, personal attorney for Mayor Thompson, is the leading attorney for the city, with Chester E. Cleveland Sr., assistant. Jackson objected to going on with the elevated case on Nov. 28, because he said a demurrer to Mayor Thompson's libel suit against THE TRIBUNE was to be argued at that time. So the elevated case was continued to Dec. 2 and the gas case to Nov. 29.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company is scheduled to walk in before the long table of the commission this morning.

N. Y. TRACTION LINES' LOSS PUT
AT $17,000,000

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Experts testified in the hearings of the transit law commission that a ride in overcrowded transit facilities in this city now cost about $4.33—5 cents paid by the passenger, 1 cent paid by the city through inability of the lines to pay $10,000,000 in taxes, and the remainder made up by deferring payments for supplies, delaying into depreciation funds, or using other methods of making up losses. The actual deficit in figures for all the transit lines in the city for the last year was estimated by witnesses at about $17,000,000.

Bandits Rob Collector of $300; 2 Others Lose $60

Three holdups reported to the police last night netted bandits a total of $360. The greater part of it—$300—was taken from George Wise, collector for the Standard Oil company, at West 58th street and Lowe avenue. L. G. Blanchard, 343 South Dearborn street, lost $10 at 90th street and Brandon avenue, and the cash register of a United Cigars store at 2744 West North avenue yielded $60.

Railroad Detective Shot by Trio in Pullman Yards

Edward Fay, Chicago Belt railroad detective, was shot by three men he surprised yesterday in the railroad yards at Pullman. At the Burnside hospital no hope was held for his recovery. He was wounded three times in the abdomen.

GRANBULGE AS COTTON AND STOCKS MOVE UP

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A much firmer undertone prevailed in the wheat market from the start in New York, and, while there was a break of over 2¢ at one time from the start, it took but little buying to bring about a bulge of 4 1/2¢ from the low and the finish was at net gains of 2 1/2¢ with December leading. At no time were corn prices as low as the previous day's close and the finish was about the top with gains of 3/4¢, 1 1/2¢, while oats advanced 3/4¢, and rye 1 1/2¢.

The routine run of news had little effect on the wheat market, although the majority of the local trade was inclined to give more consideration to bullish developments. Talk of a revival in the export demand at the Gulf led to buying early, but on the advance there was free selling by commission houses supposedly acting for the leading interest and a break to the lowest figures of the day followed.

Many of the pit element became over-sold on the decline and toward the close it took but little buying by commission houses to start the market upward. The shorts started to cover and May advanced to 1.10 1/4, where it ran into the same class of selling as in the early bulge and the close was at 1.09 1/2, 1/2¢ under the May against 5 1/2¢ under recently.

Corn strong from the start, a belief that the Finance Corporation would announce a plan that would permit producers to hold for a long time, combined with a continued active inquiry from the seaboard, bringing about a change in sentiment and the market was offering very heavy. Exporters raised their bids 4 1/2¢ over December 1. f. Buffalo for No. 2 mixed, and bought 400,000 bu here with charters for 250,000 bu.

Action of the oats market was a reflection of that of other grains and the close was firm with December at 32 1/2. A little export business is under way in Canadian grain with 50,000 bu sold abroad.

Lard Buyers Turn Sellers.

Buyers of lard Tuesday were the best sellers yesterday, and while there was a little buying early on the bullish showing made by the semi-monthly stock report the close was easy with net losses of 2 1/2¢, while ribs were unchanged to 2 1/2¢ lower. Prices follow:
